HOLIDAY HELPERS. The Marion Post Office has added an unusual feature to its holiday mail service this year, putting girls on the street for the first time to make continuous collections from mail boxes in the business district. The young ladies start their rounds at 8 a.m. to keep mail moving smoothly all day. Here Miss Sue Elicker of 182 Gurley Ave. prepares to unload a stack of letters from one of the boxes as her co-workers stand by their aluminum pushcarts. Standing (left to right) are Miss Jennie L. Scheitler of 413 Lee St., Miss Linda Schwab of 1200 E. Church St. and Miss Ellen J. Busler of 574 E. Church St. Postmaster Homer D. Cole said today that this year's holiday mailing is running 151,000 cancellations below last year. "That represents one full day's work," he said. Mr. Cole said he believes the rush is over and that the daily load will drop steadily from now on.

Americans May Send New Message Over Atlas Radio

Soviets Claim Berlin Is Not NATO Affair

Attack Communique Pledging Support for Big 3 Nations in Crisis

MOSCOW (AP) — Pravda complained bitterly today that the North Atlantic Treaty Organization has no business concerning itself with Berlin.

The NATO Council of Foreign Ministers issued a communique in Paris Tuesday saying that all the NATO nations are behind the United States, Britain and France in defiance of the Soviet Union over Berlin.

Raps NATO Countries

The Western Big Three have rejected Soviet demands that they withdraw their troops from occupation of West Berlin by next June 1. In making the demand on Nov. 27 Premier Khrushchev also said the Russians will give the East German Communist regime control over the 110-mile allied supply lines that connect West Berlin with West Germany if the Allies remain.

Pravda claimed the minister's council was not the proper place to discuss Berlin. The Communist party newspaper said no one expected "a memorandum of peace to emerge from the depth of this aggressive organization, but the very fact that the Berlin problem was included in the agenda is testimony to the NATO attempt to increase tension in Europe."

Reject Soviet Demands

The government newspaper Izvestia said the NATO nations are "turning the rudder sharply towards an intensification of the cold war" by getting involved in the Berlin question.

In Berlin, the Soviet Union and Communist East Germany joined in issuing new warnings to the West against the use of force to reach West Berlin without East German permission after the satellite regime takes over controls.

IKE LISTENS TO SATELLITE MESSAGE. America's mightiest satellite, the Atlas, has relayed from space a dramatic Christmas message by President Eisenhower, calling for peace on earth. The broadcast of the pre-recorded message was received by a tracking station at Cape Canaveral, Fla., and piped from the Cape through the Pentagon to the White House for the President to hear. The President is shown as he listens to a tape recording of his voice in Press Secretary Hagerty's office. (UPI Telephoto)

Ike's Speech Transmitted Successfully

United States Prestige Boosted; Worldwide Network Is Forecast

WASHINGTON (AP) — America's pride of the heavens soared high around the world today ready to send anew a presidential yuletide message of good will.

Jubilant architects of the fourton Atlas said it would be early afternoon before they decide about retriggering their talking satellite to broadcast tape-recorded words from President Eisenhower.

The next step, when the scientists figure they have enough initial data in hand, will be to erase the message and send up another to be released by remote control as Atlas continues its travels.

Communications Revolution

This second phase of the pioneering project promised to point the way to a revolution in communications — mass transmissions of sound and pictures to anywhere on earth through a satellite network.

And in the hours following Atlas' mighty blastoff from its Cape Canaveral, Fla., launching site Thursday night, statesmen assessed its boost to U.S. strength in the great East-West struggle.

Atlas struck another propaganda blow for this country at 3:15 p.m. Friday when, zipping at 17,000 m.p.h. over Cape Canaveral, it rebroadcast as scheduled a short Eisenhower message recorded Tuesday and carried aloft in the nose cone.

"This is the President of the United States speaking," came the dramatic playback of Eisenhower's voice through some static and fading as in the early days of shortwave.

"Through the marvels of scientific advance, my voice is coming to you from a satellite traveling in outer space.

"My message is a simple one. Through this unique means I convey to you and to all mankind America's wish for peace on earth and good will toward men everywhere."

Hears Own Words

Eisenhower himself joined reporters in the office of presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty to hear his voice on a Pentagon-supplied recording of the signal reaching Canaveral.

The President, in high spirits, fiddled with glasses in one hand as he listened intently. One sentence came through garbled "but it didn't hurt the message any," Eisenhower said. Hagerty supplied the full text.

Eisenhower said perhaps television-in-space would be the next astounding invention. He laughed when a newsman suggested presidential news conferences might be held that way.

"Where would you people like to be then?" Eisenhower joked back.

The 85-foot Atlas was not ex-

Negotiators for CWA, Company in Accord On One-Year Contract

Pay increases ranging up to 13 cents an hour will go into effect for some 325 Marion employes of the General Telephone Co. of Ohio beginning Thursday.

The company and the Communications Workers of America reached agreement on a new one-year contract Friday after a month of negotiations.

In a joint statement issued Friday night, the company and union said that the new contract covers some 1,500 employes throughout Ohio.

Besides wages, the contract includes upgrading of several jobs and establishment of what the union called excellent arbitration and grievance procedures.

The contract is subject to ratification by members of the CWA in 70 Ohio counties that are served by General Telephone.

Martin J. Hughes, Ohio director of the CWA, said the union was pleased with the settlement.

"Agreement was reached in spite of some almost insurmountable labor-management obstacles caused by differences in working condi-

Holiday Travel Hit

1,500 Pilots Strike American Airline

CHICAGO (AP) — A strike of pilots grounded American Airlines planes today and sent thousands scurrying for other means of travel.

The strike of 1,500 pilots went into effect at midnight against the nation's biggest air passenger carrier.

Talks Break Down

Negotiations between the air line and the Air Line Pilots Assn. broke down with no further meetings scheduled.

The walkout started while the holiday travel rush was building toward a peak.

An American Airlines spokesman in Washington, where the line normally has 120 inbound and outbound flights each day, said the walkout "fouled up plans of thousands of people who had reservations with American."

The pilots finished trips that had begun before midnight.

Travelers arriving from overseas were among the thousands caught in the scramble. Eastern Airlines already was out of operation because of a 26-day strike of mechanics and flight engineers.

Many overseas travelers who reached New York had reservations on American for connecting flights. American and overseas agents tried to book space for them on other lines.

Long Strike Predicted

Leverett Edwards, chairman of the National Mediation Board, told the Associated Press:

"It looks like a good chance that there might be an extended strike."

He said the big stumbling block consists of working condition items.

Edwards planned to leave for Washington tonight. He said further conferences in the dispute may be held in Washington or New York.

An American Airlines spokesman said that as much as one-third of the nation's daily air travel was affected by the walkouts at AA and EAL. American has a daily passenger load of 24,000 and claims to be the biggest carrier.

A pilots union official said in Chicago that "The strike could go on for as long as six months." He accused American of "extreme stubborness," but an American spokesman termed the AA offer "the best in the industry."

Leverett Edwards, chief mediator and chairman of the National Mediation Board, said:

"I thought we had enough on the table to reach an agreement, but an impasse has been reached on working conditions. It does not look like a quick settlement will be effected."

Equals Eastern Offer

The ALPA said American has offered a contract which equals the Eastern Air Lines settlement pact in money for both jet and piston engine operations. However, the pilots said working condition offers did not measure up to the Eastern contract.

The pilots contend the current American pay scale, ranging from $400 to $1,602 monthly, is lower than wages of other airlines. However, an American spokesman said top pay for pilots would jump from $1,602 monthly to $2,334 if the American offer was to be accepted.

Shovel Talks Shift to Capital

Negotiators To Attend Parley in Washington

A meeting of representatives of the Marion Power Shovel Co. and striking Local 1949 of the United Steel Workers union will be held with federal mediators in Washington, D.C., Monday at 10 a.m.

The meeting was requested by the U. S. Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service.

This will mark the second time negotiating meetings have been held in Washington during the long series of talks that have been held in attempts to reach agreement on a new contract. Other out-of-town bargaining sessions have been held in Columbus and Cleveland. The strike of 1,400 steelworkers is now in its 14th week.

Faces Murder Charge

HASLEMERE, England (AP)—Mrs. Diana Bromley, 39-year-old wife of a British cabinet official, was charged at a Guildford Court today with murdering her elder son, Martin, 13.

Air-to-Ground Weapon Fired By Air Force

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —The Air Force has fired another highly classified air-to-ground weapon with a roar that rocked the nearby missile town of Cocoa Beach.

The shoot came Friday when a jet plane swept in over the Cape and blasted the missile into the Atlantic. Earlier, a Bomarc had been fired on a successful intercept against two pilotless drone planes.

When the air-ground missile was released, there was a loud boom and then seconds later, a puffy vapor trail shaped like a question mark appeared high in the Florida sky.

The Air Force reported that an air-to-ground weapon had been launched, but officials declined to identify the type.

There were reports however, that it may have been the new White Lance.

Change Asked In Engineer's Staff for City

Mayor Would Boost Pay of Top Man and Eliminate One Post

An ordinance to eliminate the post of sanitary engineer in the city engineering department and to provide a $1,300 a year salary increase for the city engineer will be considered Monday night by City Council.

It is the only piece of legislation listed on the agenda and marks the first time in recent history that council has been faced with less than three pieces of legislation at a regular meeting.

Mayor Wendell L. Strong said today that the reduction in the engineering force and some savings in the department's incidental funds would result in an annual saving to the city of $6,350. He said that the present total operating cost of the engineering department is $42,150 a year and that under the new proposal it will be $35,800.

The annual salary for the sanitary engineer is $7,800 and the present pay for the city engineer is $6,500. Under the new setup to be considered Monday night, the city engineer's salary would be increased to $7,800.

Santa Slowed By Satellites, To Try Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — "There I was on my back at 30,000 feet," wheezed Santa Claus, "and — Whoosh! — this thing whizzed past me and just after I stopped shaking — Whoosh! — this other thing came whooshing past me—"

"There, there, dear," soothed his wife, "drink this nice cup of tranquilizer and relax. After all, you've got a big job ahead of you."

"I do, do I?" said Santa, rising up on one elbow. "Maybe I won't do it this year. Maybe I'll let those sweet little kiddies get their own presents this year. This delivery job is getting too dangerous. Wow!

"I was making this test run, see, just checking, and these satellite things came whooshing past me from all directions. Golly gee, it was like Labor Day night on a turnpike.

"Mom, I'm getting too old for this job."

"Nonsense," interrupted Mrs. Claus briskly. "Think of all the disappointed children there would be. Think of all the brownies that would be out of jobs in your workshop."

"It's time I thought about my own social security," Santa grumped. "Besides, the reindeer are complaining. Blitzen says he was blitzed, Dasher says he's dashed if he'll stand for this satel-

U.S. May Boost Production of IRBM Missiles

Would Be Furnished Allies if They Want Them, McElroy Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Neil McElroy said today the Defense Department may boost production of Intermediate Range Ballistic Missiles if more Western European countries want them.

The department now has limited orders to production for eight IRBM squadrons. A squadron consists of 15 missiles.

McElroy told newsmen that Gen. Lauris Norstad, NATO supreme commander, would like to see missiles sent to countries in addition to Britain, which has accepted them, and Italy, which is negotiating.

Share Christmas Warmth

One Article of Clothing Would Aid Needy Child

If your Christmas shopping is done, why not buy just one extra gift of clothing for a needy child?

This is the appeal being issued today by the Give-a-Christmas Clearinghouse in the hope that a donor who is financially unable to meet the Christmas needs of an entire family may be able to provide a gift for one member of a family.

To facilitate the donor, articles may be left in the clothing room of the Marion County Welfare Department, easily accessible at 169½ E. Center St. They will be used for welfare cases, clearinghouse officials said.

The needed clothing includes: boys' pajamas, size 12; girls' slips, sizes 10, 12 and 14; girls' boots, sizes 1½ and 2½, and boys' boots, sizes 6½ to 9.

Warm jackets for boys, ranging in size from 6 to 14, also are requested.

How To Make a Gift

To give a Christmas, telephone 3-2313 or visit clearinghouse headquarters at the Salvation Army Citadel, corner of Windsor and W. Church streets, for names of indigent persons or families. Cash contributions particularly are needed. Make checks payable to Give-a-Christmas and send to clearinghouse headquarters.

The clothing gift should be wrapped and tagged on the outside as to the size and contents.

Your Newspaperboy

Your newspaper doesn't get to your door every day by itself.

Someone has to take it there, six days a week all year, in summer's heat, winter's cold and the varying shades of weather in between.

That someone, of course, is your newspaperboy—that youngster who passes up afternoon athletics and a host of other activities to get a start as a businessman.

Following a custom of long standing, The Marion Star today is giving 18,450 copies of its paper to the newspaperboys.

This is the newspaper's traditional way of saying "Merry Christmas" to its carriers and letting them know how much it appreciates their faithful service.

Worldwide Communication

Space Radio To Provide New System for Military

WASHINGTON (AP)—The new space communications system tested with President Eisenhower's Christmas message is designed ultimately to provide a new aid to the military services in worldwide communications.

David Young, space technology coodinator for the Pentagon's Advanced Research Projects Agency, gave this account today in telling of plans to break current bottlenecks in long-distance communications.

ARPA directed the launching of the Atlas which is now orbiting high above the earth with tiny radios and a tape recorder aboard.

Young told a reporter that satellites would be used as space relay stations to transmit messages on high radio frequencies which can not be used in ordinary transoceanic long range radio transmission.

He indicated the system would also add vastly to the message capacity now offered on crowded oceanic cables.

The radio system consists of two devices each a little larger than an ordinary portable radio. Each can receive voice or telegraphic-type radio, store it on a tape recorder, then transmit it to a ground receiving station upon proper command.

Two devices are carried in case one should fail. Each was tuned to a slightly different wavelength.

Atlas will pick up only messages which are in a proper code, thus cutting out unwanted signals.

Services Sunday Will Retell Glorious Story of Christ's Birth

Joy of Ancient Wise Men To Be Experienced Anew

By ELAINE DAYTON

"We have seen his star in the east and are coming to worship him." Matt. 2:2.

Worshipers of the young child of Bethlehem, celebrating his birthday throughout the world soon, will feel again the impact of the joy of those first Wise Men who saw "his star" and came in search of him those many, many years ago.

It is of note that the star, symbolic of his place as "light of the world" and savior of mankind, rose in the east. Though Christianity progressed steadily westward, the significance and influence of the place it was cradled has gained ground rather than diminished throughout these nearly 2,000 years.

The gladness that overflowed the hearts of the Magi Kings and made the humble shepherds tremble on the Judean hills at the news brought earlier by the angels that first Christmas will fill the hearts of high and low alike in 1958 as then.

MANY ACTIVITIES are arranged for Christmas Sunday with special sermons, music which will ring out with a particular happiness of expression, programs by the children with pageants, plays, recitations and exercises dedicated to the Christ Child. Baptism of infants will be important in some churches.

Music in many forms will be prominent and youth groups particularly have arranged caroling for the ill and shut-in of the community either for Sunday night or the week. There will be Sunday vesper services for some churches and others will have evening programs. During the week there will be parties and gift giving to commemorate the first great Christmas Gift. Churches will provide treats for the children.

Churches and chapels will be aglow with the lights which will burn as a symbol of the light God sent to men in the form of his infant son. Christmas greenery will remind the worshiper of the eternal life offered to those who honor the son by accepting him as savior and many offerings will go to help those who are needy in keeping with the thought the needy world was supplied with hope for redemption through the supreme offering of the son.

The panorama of the Christmas story will be staged in colorful costumes and the Bethlehem shepherds, the Wise Men and the Holy Family will be recreated to tell in modern words that "Christ is born."

Following a tradition of other years, one church will again present its "Living Scenes of the Nativity" the three nights preceding Christmas in the view of both pedestrians and motorists.

In the front entrance of Trinity Baptist Church Monday through Wednesday nights tableaux will be scene depicting the Inn of Bethlehem with Mary and Joseph turned away because "there is no room," angelic choirs announcing the birth of the Jesus to the shepherds and the climaxing nativity picture featuring the entire group of the Holy Family, angels, shepherds and Wise Men. Appropriate music will be played each night and there will be live animals appearing with the human actors. General chairman is Hugh Johnston assisted by John Dardinger, D. H. Brewer, F. B. Burtch, Alfred Alexander, Mrs. H. B. Woodall and John Jenkins. Time of the presentations will be 7 o'clock until 9.

Spirit of Christmas: What Is It?

The spirit of Christmas is expressed in an assortment of ways. It means many things to many people, not necessarily the same thing to all people.

To some, it is nothing more than a date on the calendar, another day free of work, an interruption to establish routine.

To others, it is a reluctant submission to custom, with no thought given to origin or motivation.

To others still, it is a welcome season of stepped - up merriment, a time of increased tempo in an already rapid-paced existence.

To the great many, however, the spirit of Christmas is an expression of the better side of mankind as it comes to the fore with a willingness to be seen and appreciated, a desire to see and appreciate.

IN THE GENUINE spirit of Christmas we find:

An entire neighborhood of men, women and children going as a group to the post office to present a gift to their postman . . .

Doctors and nurses standing watch throughout the day over the life of a little girl, while family dinners wait . . .

School children bringing their favorite toys to a distribution center so the less fortunate may know the pleasures they have had from them . . .

Church choirs spending extra hours in anticipation of the inspiring moment when the age-old story will unfold in song . . .

A mother nestling her new-born baby in the quiet stillness of early morning, and wondering, once again, what the world holds in store for her child . . .

The membership of a college fraternity sending their cook home to Sweden for the holidays . . .

Machinists in an industrial plant assuming all responsibility and expense for the family of a fellow worker injured in an accident . . .

A son foregoing the gaiety of numerous social events to travel hundreds of miles to be with his aged parents . . .

Tradesmen defying wind, cold and snow to make last-minute deliveries to waiting customers . . .

A young father working secretly through the night to set up a complicated electric train for his sons . . .

Throngs of expectant worshipers filing into their church pews with a mixture of joy and reverence in their hearts, now that the day of celebration has arrived.

LITTLE THINGS in the light of a world vast in events and fraught with tremendous problems?

Perhaps so. Perhaps it is better to forget the day, or worry it through, or live it up!

But the little expressions of the spirit of Christmas are rooted in the one great hope of mankind today to meet the challenges and problems that lie ahead.

The Day of His Coming

A Sermonette

By REV. ALVIN SIEMSEN
Pastor of First United Church of Christ

"Who can endure the day of his coming and who can stand when he appears?" Malachi 3:2

The original voice that raised this question was heard more than 400 years before Jesus was born. Malachi was calling for a re-examination of the popular expectation of God's intervention in the affairs of a people who were in the midst of a spiritual depression. To these people, whose memories of their captivity was fresh upon their minds, there was the strong hope that God would send a messiah who would bring restored prosperity and political prestige. The appearance of such a messiah was popularly referred to as the "Day of the Lord."

Malachi was one of those who insisted that all who awaited God's miraculous intervention should expect not only ease and comfort but be prepared for a judgment upon their behavior. He made clear that those who were anxious for God's visitation to men should also be ready to assume the responsibilities which God laid upon those whom he might rescue from misfortune.

WITH CHRISTMAS now the focal point of our attention, this fifth century voice raises a relevant question about our expectations from another celebration of the Lord's Nativity. Dare we suppose that in the observance of the birth of the Christ pleasure and relaxation are to be the only logical accompaniments to our welcome of the Lord?

The carol through which our eagerness for the entrance of Christ into human experience is frequently sung comes from Phillips Brooks.

O Holy Child of Bethlehem, Descend to us we pray;
Cast out our sin, and enter in, Be born in us today.
We hear the Christmas angels the great glad tidings tell;
O come to us, abide with us, Our Lord Emanuel.

But along with this carol it is wise to consider the prophet's question "Who can endure the day of his coming and who can stand when he appears?"

Make no mistake: The comfort of Christmas should be genuinely appreciated. While there is always some of the season's merriment whic his superficial there is at the same time some awareness that Christ's coming has something to do with human sinfulness. Even with only a partial understanding of God's remarkable love, which the nativity story helps to perpetuate, there comes a new inner peace and the hope for a future bright with the promise of God's continuing nearness to men as they seek triumphs over their troubles.

BECAUSE THE Lord has come, new light falls upon the dark and tragic moments of life. Occasions of bereavement still come but the sorrow is made more endurable because through this same Saviour's coming there has been demonstrated the mastery over death. Throughout the world there are troublesome tensions and strife. But again, through this Christ there has come a reconciling spirit that has often helped men to overcome their personal animosities and has at the same time been a factor in bringing social units and nations to a creative solution of their disagreements. He alone, among the children of men can rightly claim the honor which sets him above all others as Prince of Peace.

Let Chrisitmas then be celebrated because of the comfort it brings. There is reason to rejoice whenever God draws near to rescue men from sin and to stand beside them to help them triumph over trouble.

BUT THE coming of Christ has also brought a judgment to the world. Because of his coming to those who would dare to accept his rulership and protection there are responsibilities to be fulfilled.

If Christmas leaves us unexcited or undisturbed something is wrong. The coming of Jesus is a world-shaking event. He has done something to the human conscience. We can no longer plead innocence in the case of some of our offenses against God. We know better. Our lack of the forgiving spirit, our clinging to anxieties, our obsession with creature comforts, our haughty self- righteousness which makes of us modern Pharisees — all these stand condemned because of the words he spoke and the life the lived, "Who can endure the day of his coming and who can stand when he appears?

Of the Wise Men it was said, "They fell down and worshipped him." Again Christmas forces us to a decision concerning this person who has split history in two. Perhaps we have made a partial response to his entry into our world and into our lives. Churches will be visited where his birth is celebrated. But from here the path leads back to our homes and to our places of employment. Let it be seen in our faces, in our forgiving spirit, in our daily work that we have been in his presence. Let the new-found strength derived from that worship cause us to accept the kind of discipleship which is consistent with the demands arising from his coming.

CHRISTMAS

It's a time of festive Good Cheer...when family ties are made stronger... when eyes are brightened, hearts lightened.
But most important it's a time when we celebrate the birthday of The King.

Confident Living

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

One Night at the Inn

It was a very old and small inn near the gates of the city. No one stayed there who could find friends to take him in. Usually business wasn't very good. But two or three times a year something special would go on in town and people would crowd into the city. On these occasions even the inn would be filled.

Vincent Peale

It was at such a time that the old innkeeper was helping a tired traveler stable his donkey. "Full up, tonight?" asked the traveler.

"Oh, yes," the innkeeper said, "we'll have to put a straw pallet for you on the floor in the entrance hall. There are four or five other men there now."

"I wish I'd known you were going to be so crowded. I would have tried to get here earlier," the traveler remarked, "I guess this is as crowded as you've ever been."

"NOT AT ALL. Sometimes we've even had people bedded down right here in the stable among the animals. Why, once I even had to put a pregnant woman here. That was a long time ago, but somehow I've never forgotten it . . ." he said reflectively.

"We were just swamped with travelers that night, all clamoring for food and lodging. I was overworked, tired and irritable. A man came up to me and asked for a room. I didn't even look up; I just said, 'No room!'"

"'But my wife is pregnant,' he told me.

"'Why didn't you leave her home?' was my response (which was pretty rough, I guess). Just then my wife came over to tell me that there was a woman on a donkey out in the yard who was having birth pangs at that very moment and that we would have to do something for her.

"'That's your wife, I suppose,' I said to the man, and he nodded yes. Well, we'd already given up our own beds and the only thing I could tell him was that I'd have some fresh straw put in the stable and they could stay there. So he thanked me and took his wife into the stable.

"It was a busy night, one of the busiest we've ever had here and I soon forgot all about the people in the stable. When my work finally let up, I thought I would get a breath of air before going to sleep, so I went out into the yard. It was a beautiful night and I stood looking up at the heavens. Suddenly up there in the sky was the biggest star I've ever seen. Then over by the stable I was surprised to see some camels. I hadn't had any caravans that night; my trade is usually donkey trade, when they don't come on foot. So I went over to take a look and to my amazement the stable was filled with people.

"NATURALLY, I wanted to know what was going on and I went in. It turned out that the woman had had her baby there in the stable, and I just figured that the excitement must have attracted this group of passersby. There were some shepherds in from the fields and I was astonished to see there some rich men who, I was told, were from afar off in the East. The baby was a very beautiful boy and those rich men were kneeling by the manger giving him gifts. You might have thought none of them had ever seen a baby before, they seemed so excited. But he was a real pretty baby. We all sort of felt glad. I can still remember how good I felt."

"What happened then?" the traveler asked.

"Oh," the innkeeper answered, "eventually all those people went away and let the poor woman and child get some rest. The three of them, father, mother and child, left as soon as she could travel—for Egypt, I think. It sure was a pretty baby," he hesitated ". . . the most unusual child I ever saw. I often wonder what he grew up to be."

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

The Sandman Came First

She thought she'd wait up for Santa. The sandman came first. But she'll have no regrets when she wakes up tomorrow. Christmas is so wonderful, it doesn't really matter whether you heard the reindeer's hoofs on the roof or saw the jolly old elf open his pack.

Like the heart of Christmas, it's not important that we weren't at Bethlehem . . . we didn't see the star . . . we didn't kneel at the manger. We can even erase the years when Christmas has found us tangled in tinsel and asleep to God.

For Christ is born! The hopes and fears of all the years have melted into one eternal Truth.

A gift is ours when we awake to discover it, reach for it, cling to it.

The Christ men worship in their churches and homes is God's gift to you and me.

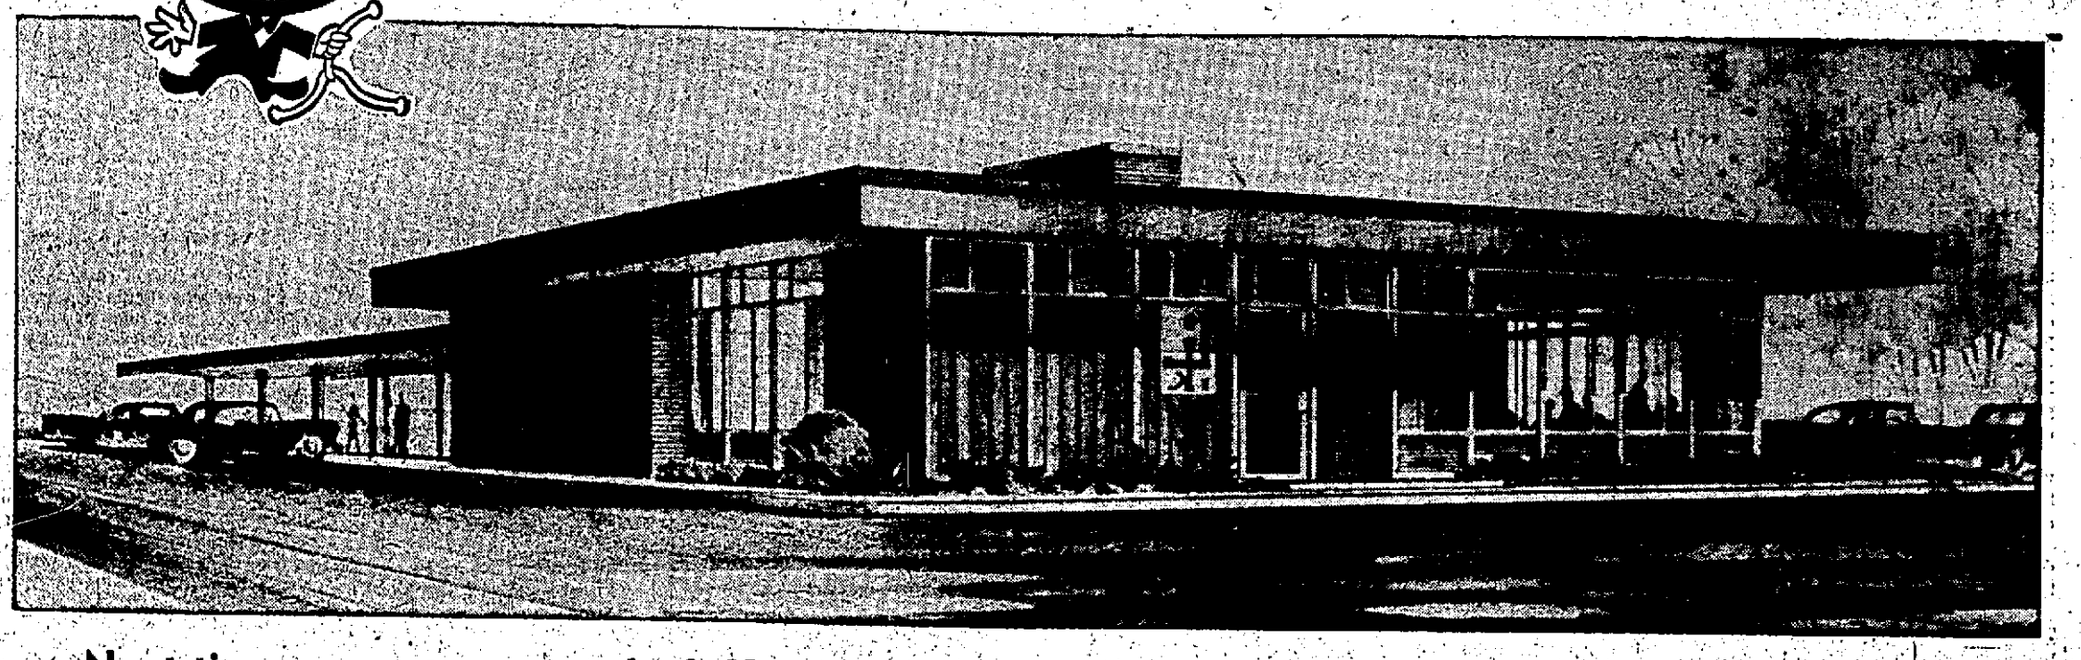
Everyone has a certain amount of pride in undertaking a new job. . . . and I, Speedy Flame, am no exception. At the beautiful, new L & K Restaurant, I'll be responsible, not only for helping to prepare the food you eat, but also for keeping the dining room pleasantly comfortable—summer and winter.

Yes, I'll operate the Arkla-Servel "all-year" air conditioning units that delightfully cool the new L & K Restaurant in warm weather . . . heat it in winter . . . and circulate fresh, properly humidified air for your greater comfort every season of the year.

The big, modern kitchen of this fine new restaurant is my "domain," too. Oven, griddles, range, hotplate, broaster—all are fueled by Gas. I even heat the oceans of water needed for an immaculately clean restaurant operation, provide fuel for large volume incineration.

I got my big new job, they tell me, because only Gas both heats and cools so economically and so well; and offers the speed, flexibility and, of course, fine results experienced restauranteurs and chefs demand of their cooking equipment.



Next time you eat out, try the L-K . . . and remember—

Competition Is Spice of Rocketry

The only thing wrong with international competition in rocketry is a fault it shares with international competition in yachting. The spectators don't understand the technical obscurities.

But they — we — can exult over the scoring of a triumph. The Atlas missile casing now in orbit around the earth is a triumph. It is at least as heavy and perhaps heavier than the combined weight of the Soviet Union's Sputnik III and its burned-out rocket casing, which stayed aloft from last May to early this December. But on the other hand, the newest U.S. satellite, officially known as Score, will not stay up as long.

Its significance in U.S.-U.S.S.R. competition is the rocket thrust that matched and may have exceeded slightly the hitherto incredible thrust of the Russian rocket that hurled Sputnik III into orbit. The United States apparently has learned how to match the Russian engineers in rocket thrust. It now appears improbable the Russians are using atomic energy, as sometimes had been suspected. That will be the next big move.

SCIENTIFICALLY, the significance of Operation Score is the guidance system built into it and a two-way communication system needed for development of space exploration by manned missiles in years to come. Whether the Russian rocket designers are abreast or perhaps ahead of these developments is unknown and unknowable, if they choose to keep it that way.

From now on, competition to be first in outer space will be stepped up. So far, it lies between the United States and the Soviet Union. But in due time, every country with the resources to get into the game will be designing and firing rockets.

The Japanese are at work on rockets. The Chinese are busy. The Germans can be expected to show their usual mastery of all mechanistic problems. Italians should be good at the game, too. If the Chinese, with their historic fondness for pyrotechnics, ever get into competition, the air will be full of man-made thunderbolts.

This is not the prescribed, official way to think about rockets, of course. But spectators —and taxpayers—cannot be sure the pyrotechnicians all have the same point of view, either.

SOME OF THEM seem to feel it's all a warming-up exercise in military destruction, in case someone points a loaded rocket at them and pulls the trigger. Some stress the importance of sending a man to the Moon, and some stress the importance of sending all men to Oblivion.

To some it's Science. To others it's a challenge, like a mountain to climb. And to all concerned and most of the spectators it has been turning into a Obsession.

That's probably the way it was with the yachtsmen who raced Columbia and Enterprise last fall. They weren't in solid agreement on what they were trying to prove, but they were of one mind about the importance of doing it to the fullest extent of their skill and their backers' pocketbooks.

County Board Takes a Big Step

The decision made by the Marion County Board of Education Thursday night was a far-reaching one, and the board deserves full credit for facing up so soon to a major undertaking.

On Jan. 6 the board will begin a series of meetings with each of the 10 local boards in the county to explain and discuss the recommendations of the recent reorganizational survey made by the Bureau of Educational Research of Ohio State University.

The project is tremendous from the standpoint of time alone, since the county board will be involved in meetings Tuesday and Thursday nights each week for five successive weeks.

The survey report is long and detailed, but the most significant recommendation is the one which proposes the creation of a single countywide school district for Marion County.

This would be a mammoth step, but from the standpoint of educational efficiency it has seemed like a sound move to this newspaper ever since it was first announced. We have heard nothing since to destroy that belief.

Since nothing devised by human beings is perfect there must be disadvantages, but from a practical standpoint the only factor that might present a hurdle at the outset is the existence of local pride in present school districts, and rivalries with other districts.

Eventually there would be only three county high schools—Ridgedale and two new ones to be built in the future. This would wipe out rivalries, athletic and otherwise, that have been in effect for many years.

Nevertheless, the basic objective of all school systems must be the finest possible education for the individual child.

The Ohio State University survey team believes this can best be accomplished by the formation of a single school district and that opinion should bear real weight.

We wish the county school board the best of luck as it embarks on this effort in the hope the question can be brought to a county-wide vote next November.

The Science of Governing

The science of governing, also described as an art, is called politics, though many Americans profess to despise all politics under the illusion it has only the bad name given to it by a certain kind of politician.

It is the good name of politics that is going to be important next year in one of the trickiest transactions ever attempted — the sale of some 80 billion dollars' worth of government securities.

Unless the right kind of political leadership can create enough confidence in the security of dollars to make investors help the U.S. Treasury carry out this tremendous job of refinancing the public debt, the creeping inflation everybody has been talking about will turn into galloping inflation — and there will be nothing more to talk about.

The refinancing needed in 1959 will be about the same as the total budget for the fiscal year running from next June 30 to July 1, 1960. It will represent about one fourth of the national debt.

What does politics have to do with it?

Simply this: Confidence.

Investors either will have confidence in the ability of political leadership to maintain the value of the currency by balancing government outgo with government income, or they will refuse to invest in government securities.

When the federal government's credit is impaired, it must raise money by selling securities to the Federal Reserve system, which money experts know would be a powerful engine of inflation.

The dispute over the federal budget is frequently carried on in the abstract, as if it were six of one and a half dozen of the other whether outgo and income were balanced or not. But there is nothing abstract about the public debt that taxpayers are carrying or the large-scale refinancing that comes due in 1959.

It is the most down-to-earth transaction any government ever attempted, and everything depends on the impression political leadership makes during the next year.

If investors ever get the idea that the men who hold political power have quit trying to balance the budget, or are not astute enough to handle it as a prime responsibility of the science of governing, the runaway inflation nobody wants will be what everybody must live with for better or for worse.

Instead of scoffing at bad politicians, Americans should pray for enough good ones to sell more than 80 billion dollars' worth of confidence in the stability of U.S. dollars during 1959.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Much advice is being given on how to choose a puppy as a Christmas gift, with emphasis on careful observation of eyes, legs, ears and general attitude. Okay, but pooches need some advice on choosing an owner. So here goes for puppies everywhere:

1. Look closely at buyer's eyes, if he is a man. If they are clear and bright it indicates he likes dogs and means to take good care of you but will often battle with wife over her turn to take you out when you "gotta go." If eyes are dull and misty it indicates he has lost many such arguments. You'll be slow getting your airings even if issue doesn't go to federal mediation.

2. Observe his demeanor. Good or bad, he will try to teach you to sit up and beg, fetch slippers and carry a newspaper. This can be pretty annoying but there is no escape.

3. Note whether he acts friendly, even if he does so, remember you haven't seen him try to housebreak a puppy yet.

4. Note his mouth. Does the jaw protrude? This indicates plenty of arguments with his wife over her determination to let you sleep at the foot of the bed. If his wife is with him, note her mouth and jaw. It may indicate she will win all such disputes.

5. If the buyer is a woman study her carefully. If she gushes over you and makes with dog-talk, excuse it. But it may be taken as a sign she will overfeed you, tie ribbons around your neck and pick a silly name.

If she doesn't gush it indicates she prefers a cat or is choosing you to send to Aunt Minnie's little boy, Oswald, for Christmas. (Play sick or dead immediately).

This kid is getting a load of guns, guided missiles, rockets, etc., for Christmas and may try to put you in the nose cone.)

Q. Did Broadway show tickets ever sell as low as $2? B.N.

A. Back around 1917 most shows were a $2 top. Some hit-musicals went to $3, but in places like the Winter Garden, dropped back to $2.50. Arthur Hopkins had a $2 top on weekends but $1 to $1.50 for other nights. It was the era of Gray's Drugstore in Times Square where thousands swarmed nightly for cut-rate tickets.

Atlantic & Pacific supermarket stock is now open to public and Ima Dodo complains because she can't get it cheaper at a rival market. First A & P store was a hole in the wall in downtown New York and opened in 1859. It handled mainly tea, coffee and spices.

John Foster Dulles should be a Man of the Year if there is an award for high courage. From a hospital bed to Paris powwow calls for valor.

Washington has issued a public warning to beware of fake French perfume peddlers. This is one of the oldest rackets and we thought it was exposed years ago.

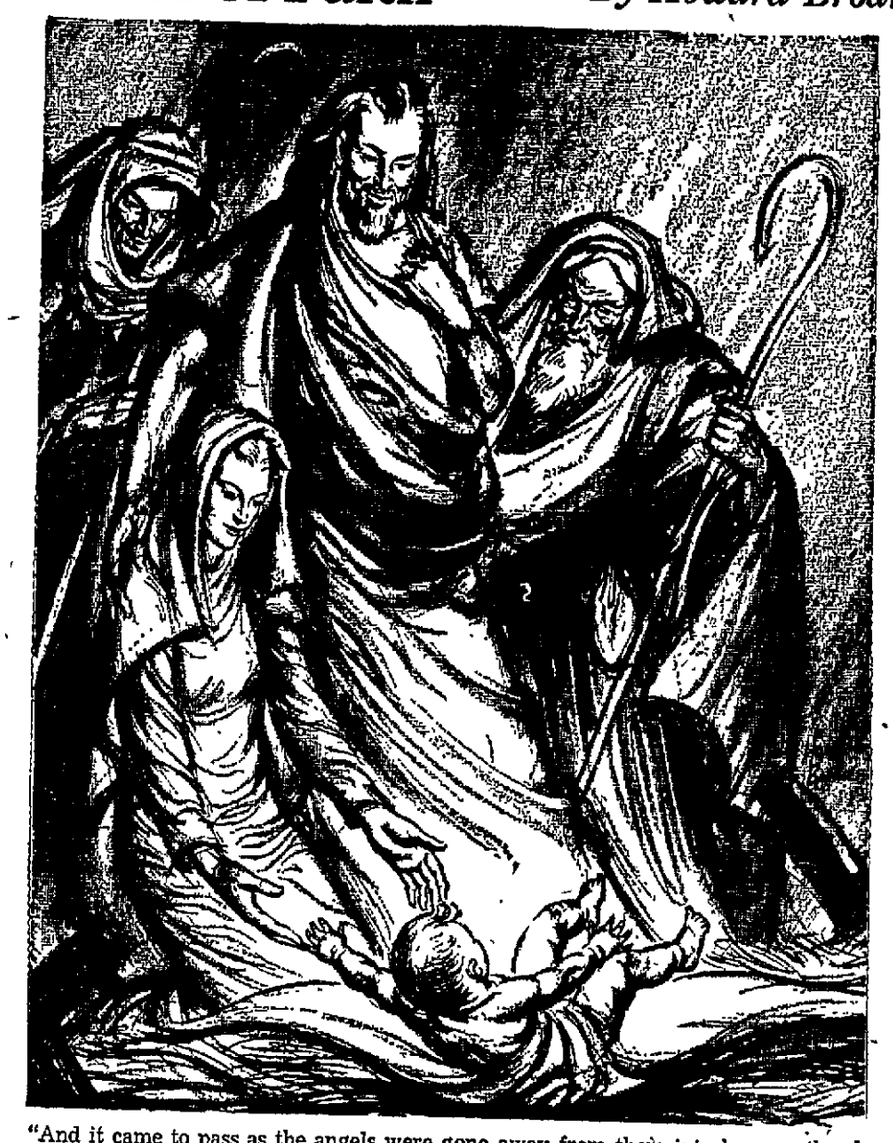
Power of Faith

By Howard Brodie



"And it came to pass as the angels were gone away from them into heaven, the shepherds said to one another: Let us go even unto Bethlehem, and see this which has come to pass, which the Lord hath made known unto us.

"And they came with haste, and found Mary and Joseph, and the babe, lying in a manger."

'Righters' Misinformed

By Ralph McGill

Now and then one of the more antiquated of the extreme states rights tribes, within the Democratic party will beat his breast like a Tarzan and demand a return to the philosophy of Jefferson and Jackson.

And this is odd. Jefferson made it very plain, in his great message to the Congress in 1806, that he would not forever keep the nation in the strait-jacket of the original constitutional restraints.

Jefferson emphasized that to him the Constitution was not a fetish to be worshiped. Those were his words. He said it should not be made sacrosanct against change. It was, he said, an instrument for service to the nation, to be changed when new conditions demanded change in the interest of progress.

And Andrew Jackson, when John C. Calhoun attempted the policy of interposition and invoked states rights, informed him the Union and its sovereignty would be preserved if he had to send 50,000 troops there to do it and arrest and hang Calhoun as a traitor.

JEFFERSON WAS no stand-patter. And no one ever suggested such about Old Hickory.

Gov. Le Roy Collins of Florida currently seems to be the one Southern governor who is talking sense to the people on the subject of states rights.

"There is much talk these days," he said in a recent speech, "about 'states rights.' The term seems to have a variety of meanings, depending on who is doing the talking. I believe," he continued, "there are areas of service where the states should have the full responsibility, and that it would be a good thing for the country if the governmental domains of the states and the national government were more clearly delineated. This, however, can never be easy to accomplish."

There followed these pertinent and bold paragraphs.

"So when we think of 'states rights' we should bear in mind that the paramount American democratic concern historically has been for the rights of people rather than the rights of government, whether national or state. And I submit that the measure of worth of any level of American government is the degree to which it approaches that goal. . . .

"Just as it should not meddle where individuals or private interests are doing the job well, so should government never hesitate to act boldly and imaginatively in those fields where individuals are unable or unwilling to get the necessary job done. . . .

"GOVERNMENT is the people's business. As such, it must be dedicated to the public interest. And the public interest can never be measured by the sum total of the special interests.

"Government should be a dynamic and creative force in our society, not a disinterested bystander or a blind referee or a passive status-quo caretaker, for the American people will always be a dynamic people with ever-changing needs."

Gov. Collins noted that the Joint State-Federal Action Committee, created by the President in an effort to return projects to the states, had found it impossible to unscramble the omelete of existing joint federal-state programs.

The recommendations by the committee of programs to be returned to the states constitute less than two one-hundredths of 1 per cent of the money now expended by the national government in support of state and local services.

We are faced, as Gov. Collins said, with the burden of rundown and neglected facilities due to failure of state government in past years to face up to responsibilities.

We also face a second problem. How to provide facilities to accommodate the needs of today's population. These are two staggering problems.

The cry of states rights by those whose states have failed in their responsibilities to the people is less and less valid.

Gem of Contentment

By Frank Tripp

"The melancholy days are come, the saddest of the year—." Why melancholy? What more strengthens faith in immortality than to see nature go to sleep and know that it will awaken in new grandeur?

The poet's "wailing winds and naked woods" do not bring sad days to those who find contentment in home, friends, work and reality.

Winter to them is but an interlude of rest, to rejuvenate the beauty that will follow. They find peace in the faith that it is symbolic of their lives and the hereafter.

Contentment can be acquired, developed and enjoyed by any determined normal person. Discontent is only a cluttered state of mind, refusal to accept one's blessings and surroundings; frequently rejection of one's kin and home. The everlasting desire of some people to be where they are not.

The happiest, most contented people seldom leave their native hearth, some never have. One old fellow has told me a dozen times about the single journey of his long, contented life. He went to the Chicago World's Fair—the early one back in 1893.

When I meet him after returning from a trip, he will ask if I was in Chicago. Then he'll be off: "I was in Chicago once" and in great detail he'll go over it again, missing nothing and always ending in chuckles as he whispers, "and I saw the hoochie-coochie too."

MY CONTENTED friend has lived 65 years of enjoyment of one trip to Chicago. His description of the Ferris Wheel still is as vivid as if he saw it as a new invention yesterday. Airplanes fly over his house, speeding cars roar past his door, but he doesn't want to go anywhere. Because he went to Chicago once.

The most uneasy, discontented people are those who find little pleasure in the place where they are. Distant fields always look greener to them, but when they get there they find all of the weeds and cockles of the pasture that they left.

The folks who can't go places develop contentment and peace in the scenes that are about them. They learn that other people travel far to enjoy that which to them is commonplace.

WHEREVER one goes he'll find people who wish they were where he came from. And learn that contentment comes from within one's soul, whatever his surroundings.

For true contentment is a placid state of mind; peace that anyone can learn to enjoy any comfortable place that he happens to be.

What better way to cast discontent out of our lives than to bring our memories back home to be enjoyed forever?

"Isn't this stupid old movie ever going to end? . . . I'd like to go to bed! . . ."

Myrna Loy's Complaint

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

"I don't trust anyone who can't laugh at himself," said Myrna Loy.

Filmdon's "perfect wife" was talking about the scarcity of light comedy roles which had brought her screen career to a peak.

HAL BOYLE

"The real problem is why isn't the comedy being written," she said. 'The trend has been toward realism on the part of the writers—and they furnish the material.

"There is such a tendency to conform among people that to laugh at anything or anybody is almost verboten. You can't write comedy without satirizing or being critical of something.

"We have lost the ability to laugh at ourselves. It's a very unhealthy thing."

AFTER A TWO-YEAR absence from Hollywood, Miss Loy recently completed her latest film in which she is costarred with Montgomery Clift and Robert Ryan. She plays the part of a wife with a past.

She is being hailed as "the new Myrna Loy," which rather tickles her.

"Being typed is always a danger," she said, smiling, "and I've been typed so often I feel like a cat with nine lives. But I'm glad to do roles that have more depth."

Born on a Montana ranch, red-haired, freckle-faced Myrna Loy was earning $30 a week teaching ballroom dancing while still in her teens. Then for seven or eight years Hollywood cast her as a slinky Oriental femme fatale in film after film.

When stars like Tab Hunter were still in their diapers, Myrna was earning $3,000 a week up as perhaps the screen's all-time favorite wife, the woman every man wanted to marry and bring home to mother. Off-screen, her four matrimonial ventures fared less happily.

THE SPRINGBOARD for this phase of her career was the immensely successful "Thin Man" series in which she was teamed as the understanding wife of William Powell. They are popular all over again now as television reruns.

She has been one of the film colony's busiest workers in furthering the cultural activities of the United Nations.

"The years I haven't been so active in films weren't wasted," she said thoughtfully. "They have brought me much experience in life and living.

"The world consists of more than government moves. The artist used to be looked upon as suspect and unreliable. That was ridiculous."

Miss Loy says she has "no permanent philosophy" but added:

"I do feel I am an optimist, although there is certainly much in the world to discourage one. You can't help but be hopeful. Life is more of a challenge now than ever—there is so much going on around us.

"Life becomes a dead end for people only because they don't know how to stay active."

Cotton Corners

By Truman Twill

Dear Nephew: Bought your Christmas present this afternoon on a shopping spree with your aunt. We went through what we old-timers refer to as a five-and-dime like the Allied liberators went through Europe. I hope you will like the remembrance we found for you.

I know I am going to love the remembrance you found for me, because we have an agreement that leaves nothing to chance. But as long as you insist it is fun to be surprised, you will have to take your chances from year to year. Your chance is longer this year than usual, that's all.

I was reading the other day about the way the Japanese, who know as much about Christmas as the proverbial goose knows about Happy New Year, yet have learned to imitate the U.S. shopping season. It isn't clear whether the little yellow brothers have adopted Thanksgiving, to give them a starting point, but they have only so many shopping days till Christmas, just like us.

They have caught on fast to the psychology of the Christmas rush. It is more fun to buy stuff when other people are buying stuff. It is the same thing that makes it more fun to eat in a restaurant that is busy than to eat in one that is deserted — that makes it more fun to see a show in a crowded theater than to see the same show in a half-filled auditorium.

Would you believe it, your aunt went Christmas shopping with a friend of hers one day this year and came home with a bottle of furniture polish and some other ordinary items she could have bought any time? In my own case, the only way I ever get new handkerchiefs is from Santa Claus, though what could be more commonplace than a handkerchief?

I wish the Japanese lots of luck and because they are clever people and I shouldn't be surprised if they are first to think of some way to start a new buying holiday.

Easter has its points, but it cannot hold a candle to Christmas, and no joke intended. What's needed is a semi-annual Christmas, so people can catch up to their needs and wants twice a year.

I can hear the Japanese proclaiming it now: "Clistmas now kum tlice each lear."

But to get back to the beginning so I can get to the end, you are going to love the remembrance your aunt and I found for you. It's just like we've been saying, "Those five-and-tens have everything in them the human heart could desire—for a fin and a sawbuck.

We'll get to your place before dark on Christmas Eve. Needless to say, we are looking forward to it, as we have looked forward to it every year since you invited us the first time. And go to all the trouble you want to go to; we love to be fussed over.

I notice this is being put down as the coldest December in weather history, which goes to show. Weather history only goes to 1876, which was day before yesterday. I heard your grandfather tell about December weather colder than this—weather so cold they had to hang the thermometer upside down to keep the stuff in it from disappearing. Those were the days when they kept a bucket of charcoal hanging down inside the well to keep the water from freezing. It used to be really cold before 1876.

We'll see you Dec. 24. Until then . . .

News of Other Years

40 YEARS AGO — "The Legislature should make the study of home nursing compulsory in the public schools," declared Dr. T. A. Sutton of Zanesville. He advocated this in connection with his report that 90 per cent of lives lost through influenza could have been avoided by common sense management.

The United States extended to Great Britain an additional credit of $250,000 with the agreement that Great Britain would furnish the U.S. treasury with an equivalent amount in pounds sterling to meet requirement of the American expeditionary forces.

Field Marshal Von Hindenburg informed the Berlin government that he intended to establish a new front six and one-quarter miles behind the neutral zone.

20 YEARS AGO — Mayor H. F. LaGuardia of New York City was punched and knocked down as he was entering City Hall by a man identified as former WPA superintendent in the Pelham Bay shops of the city park department. The man was subdued by the crowd and taken to the police station. LaGuardia was not seriously injured.

Continuation of work for all of the 1,600 PWA employes in Marion city and county was assured as President Roosevelt approved federal grants of $504,927 for two blanket projects.

The American Federation of Labor called together representatives of its 102 unions to survey its legislative program for the next Congress, including revisions of the Wagner Labor Act.

10 YEARS AGO—Eire became a free and independent republic. Ireland's centuries-long and often bloody struggle for freedom came to a peaceful end as President Sean T. O'Kelly signed Eire out of the British Commonwealth. O'Kelly approved a bill of the Irish parliament repealing the external relations act which had empowered the British king to accredit Irish diplomats. The act was the last slender constitutional tie between Eire and the British crown and commonwealth.

Creation of Summit Level Lake, at one time slated to be a backbone project in the Scioto-Sandusky Conservancy District's flood control and water conservation program, was dropped in favor of more practical projects.

Minister Has Last Chance To Appeal Verdict

McCrackin's Lawyers Give No Indication of Acting by Deadline

CINCINNATI (AP)—This is the last day for filing an appeal for the Rev. Mr. Maurice F. McCrackin, war-hating minister convicted of failing to heed a federal summons.

And it looks like the deadline will pass without any effort on his behalf.

His court-appointed attorneys, Fred Dewey, University of Cincinnati law school professor, and Theodore Berry, former councilman, have kept mum since the conviction of the pastor 10 days ago in U.S. District Court.

McCrackin was charged with ignoring a summons to a conference on his income taxes. He has paid little or none for 10 years on grounds it pays for war materials, and the Internal Revenue Service wanted to find out how much he owes.

New troubles have cropped up for his church, West Cincinnati St. Barnabas Church, a merged Episcopal - Presbyterian group, and its associated Neighborhood House to which he devoted much time as director.

Episcopal Bishop Henry Wise Hobson and the Rev. Mr. Stanley R. Boughton, executive director of the Cincinnat Presbytery, said Friday night they are taking over the Neighborhood House and ousting its governing board.

But the action may set up a struggle. U. S. Fowler, chairman of the board which also governs the church, said the groups have no authority for the action.

McCrackin was sentenced to a six month prison term and a $250 fine. The governing board subsequently gave him a one-year leave of absence as director.

Portsmouth Firm Again Enters Low Bid on Job

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — For the second time, C. A. Yeager and Co. of Portsmouth submitted the apparent low bid for building a vocational arts building at Boys Industrial School at Lancaster and making repairs to six buildings there.

The company was low bidder recently but had forgotten to include one item in its bid, which was rejected. Other contractors were above the estimate.

New bids were opened Friday and Yeager's $151,634 apparently was the lowest. The state estimate was $160,355.

Finally Gets Degree

CHICAGO (AP) — A 70-year-old grandmother was 45 years late but not a bit sheepish about accepting a University of Chicago degree.

Mrs. Frances Tay Timblin of Rockford, Ill. originally was scheduled to get her bachelor of arts in 1913 but it was withheld because of two credit deficiencies.

"The only thing I'll do with this degree is hang it up and look at it, but it certainly is a great satisfaction to get it," she said.

Ohio Turnpike Crash in Elyria Area Kills Trio

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP)—An Ohio Turnpike accident killed two young men on Friday night and a third died of injuries early today. Four Wisconsin students suffered cuts and bruises in the collision six miles west of the Elyria Interchange.

Dead are Ronald Knier, 20, of Newton, Wis., and Navy Lt. Peter K. Riley, 25, of Spokane, Wash., who died at the scene, and Gary J. Swick, 26, of Milwaukee, who died five hours later in Elyria Memorial Hospital.

Turnpike patrolmen said Riley and Swick were standing behind Riley's car, which had stopped on the shoulder of the road because of motor trouble. A tow truck was preparing to pull the stalled car back on the road when a car driven by Knier skidded and pinned Riley and Swick against the truck.

Treated for cuts and bruises were four other Wisconsin residents—fellow students with Knier at Catholic University in Washington, D. C. and on their way home for the Christmas holidays.

Banker George Craig, 70, of Wadesboro, N. C., retired and started growing pine trees. Says the pine trees are paying off better than a bank.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann: I'd like to tell "The Rock" to stop feeling sorry for herself. The biggest rock of all must be in her head.

She envies her sisters because they are "blissfully married." She moans because she has no man of her own. Well, she's welcome to mine.

I'm not bitter—just experienced. Most marriages are far from the dream situations that the manless career women imagine them to be.

I started out young and bright-eyed. My husband had nothing. I was patient and uncomplaining. My marriage has brought me very little happiness. It's been one crisis after another.

My husband was busy with other women till he "reformed."

In reality he got tired and worn out. Now he spends his time at lodge meetings, poker games or asleep in front of the TV.

The Rock has it good. She's free to come and go as she pleases She earns her own money and spends it as she sees fit.

Perhaps she's missed some of the joys of marriage but she's missed plenty of the grief, too No one can have it both ways.

The career woman who is miserable because she's "alone" might do well to look around at some of her married friends. Plenty of them are alone, too.—WIFE OF A FLOP.

Unsweetened Sixteen

Dear Ann: My 16-year-old daughter is driving me out of my mind. Louise is vile-tempered, sassy and lazy. When she was 2 her father left us and I had to go to work. She lived with a succession of aunts and housekeepers.

I had an unsuccessful marriage when she was 5. Her step-father was alcoholic and for four years our home was like a prison.

Last year I married a wonderful man, but Louse refuses to accept him because her step-father was so mean it left terrible scars on her mind.

It has come to the point where we hardly speak a civil word to each other. Last night I asked her to sew a rip in her blouse and she said, "Let the sleeve fall off. I don't care." I got so mad I almost slapped her.

My husband's sister is childless. She has begged me to let Louse live with them. Louise wants to go. She visited there last summer and got along fine.

They live 200 miles from here and there's a good high school in that city. Shall I say yes?—VIVIAN.

By all means let her go. You two need to be relieved of one another's company for awhile. The pillar-to-post treatment got Louise off to a poor start. Her temper, sassiness and laziness are manifestations of insecurity.

And a 16-year-old girl who'd rather let her sleeve fall off than sew it shows an enormous lack of responsibility. You slipped a stitch somewhere in her training.

I suggest you get outside help in the girl's absence and learn what makes children hostile. With some insight you should be able to improve the relationship. It's pretty late in the game to establish lines of communication but it may not be hopeless.

Filter Trap

Dear Ann: I'm writing this from work. It may not seem like much of a problem to you but it's driving me nuts.

The office furniture was recently rearranged. An elderly gentleman had his desk turned around so that we sit face to face, all day long.

He smokes cigars, cigarettes and pipes incessantly. The only time I get relief is when he goes to lunch.

The constant smoke screen is making me sick. Can this be handled in a tactful way? Help, please! —CHOKING TO DEATH.

-:-

Apparently the smoke-stack is addicted and asking him to cut down or out would be useless. Go directly to the person whose bright idea it was to change the furniture and request the old arrangement.

Confidentially

TO BIZZY DIZZY: Your sound too "popular" for your own good. Doesn't all that traffic wear out the rugs? Where's your mother?

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Marion Star enclosing a velope.

Man Stresses Realism In Model Early Home

When he made a model of an early American room measuring 18 by 24 inches and complete with hand carved colonial furniture, he blackened the wall of the stone fireplace for realism.

PTA Activities

A Christmas program presented by students in grades one through three followed the business meeting when the Olney Ave. PTA met Thursday afternoon at the school.

Mrs. Marlene Mahler's first grade presented a toy band, using tambourines, bells and sticks. Pupils sang "Jingle Bells" and "Santa's Helpers" to this accompaniment.

Each pupil in Mrs. Imogene Stalnaker's first grade recited a portion of their "Christmas Letter" to Santa Claus.

A series of carols including "O Come All Ye Faithful," "Deck the Halls" and "We Wish You a Merry Christmas" were sung by Mrs. Ann Geiger's second grade.

"The Night Before Christmas" was enacted by Mrs. Barbara Purvis' second graders as they recited the poem in unison.

Illustrating the meaning of Christmas, Mrs. Emily Wolf's third graders portrayed lights, fragrance, giving, the Christmas tree, love and good will among other things.

The Christmas story from the book of Luke was enacted by Mrs. Mary Alice Lyon's third grade. Dressed in costume, the youngsters recited scripture, poetry and sang three popular carols.

During the business meeting a plea for winter coats and boots for the clothing center was made. These items for needy school children may be brought to the school or taken directly to the clothing locker at the W. Center St. Fire Station, it was reported.

A resolution was passed supporting the campaign to change the age limit for motor scooter driver's licenses from 14 to 16.

The attendance award for having the most parents present went to Mrs. Geiger's second grade for the third successive month.

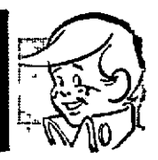
Santa and the ELF BOY

by LUCRECE HUDGINS BEALE



Seeking the Hag to ask her to lift the spell over the professor's wife and save the fairies, Esteban travels to the moon in Santa's sleigh. He is met by an old, old man who says he is the Man in the Moon.

Chapter 15

THE HANGDOG HAG

"The Man in the Moon!" cried Esteban "I never really believed there was such a one!"

"Ah, yes," said the old, old man, stroking his long white beard. "I've lived here for over a thousand years I have often been lonely for there is no other soul who lives on the moon save me. But here is a funny thing! I have never had a visitor until recently and now you are the second one to come!"

"W-who was the other one?" asked Esteban eagerly.

"A beautiful woman," said the old man dreamily. "My very breath was taken away when I saw her and I could find no words to speak. Then it was too late for she hid herself in yonder cave and will not come out"

—:—

ALL IS LOST, thought Esteban in despair. This creature cannot be the Hangdog Hag for she is ugly beyond belief.

The Man in the Moon held up the staff he leaned on. "But I have this!" he said happily. "It is the stick she arrived on"

Esteban's heart leaped with joy. The stick was a broom with all the straws broken off and he knew it was the kind of a broom that hags and witches ride. Then he understood that, since the old man had not seen a woman in a thousand years, even the Hag looked beautiful to him.

"Take me to the cave where she hides!" he cried

The old man gladly led Esteban to a cave in the hills.

"Old Hag, come out" shouted Esteban "I have come all the way from the earth to have words with you."

—:—

ALMOST instantly the burning coal eyes of the Hangdog Hag peered from the cave Snakes of hair encircled her head and fell to her scrawny, hunched shoulders.

"A-are you really from the earth?" she quavered.

"I have flown here in Santa's sleigh just to see you," said Esteban. "For you placed a spell on the wife of Professor Szpilki so that she could never wake again"

The Hag nodded. "She was so beautiful," she muttered with trembling lips. "And I am so ugly."

"The professor is brokenhearted. He has made a gas that he will release on Christmas Day. It will destroy you and every fairy creature on the earth."

The Hag cackled "It will not destroy me. I am no longer on the earth."

"True. But your brothers and sisters and aunts and nephews—think of them! Oh, do break the spell and save Fairyland on earth."

THE HAG'S long crooked teeth chewed on her lip. At last she said, "If I give you a powder that will break the spell will you take me back to earth with you in Santa's sleigh?"

Esteban's eyes grew wide with surprise.

"When I landed here," said the Hag, "my broom straws broke off my broom and I can never return to earth unless I go with you."

"Of course you can come with me!" cried Esteban "Only give me the powder and we'll leave at once!"

—:—

THE OLD HAG fumbled in the folds of her black dress and drew forth a round tin box.

"Only cast a pinch of this powder on the eyes of the sleeping woman," she muttered, "and the woman will waken"

Esteban put the box in his pocket "We must hurry," he said. "There is so little time left"

But as he and the Hag started away the Man in the Moon blocked their path.

"I am so sorry," he said. "I cannot let you go"

Satisfactory Solution

BELLFLOWER, Calif. (AP)—A class of second graders at the Ernie Pyle school wanted Christmas scenery in their room but it seemed a shame to take down their fine dairy cow mural.

They had painted a series of cows while studying the dairy industry.

The children finally solved the problem. They drew in a series of Santa Clauses milking the cows.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—Mrs Alice Haines died Friday night at St. Mary's Hospital of burns suffered Thursday at Branchland in Lincoln County when her dress caught fire while she burned trash

Call for Leaders Issued by Bishop

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The nation's schools must provide the United States with leaders and perhaps the defenders of Western civilization, Bishop Clarence G. Issenmann of the Columbus Roman Catholic Diocese has told graduates of Ohio State University.

"The worthwhile reward of the teacher is to see his students giving themselves to these vital concerns," he said Friday. "The kind of country we shall have depends on the kind of education we give our men and women, the citizens and leaders we develop"

Graduates at the university's autumn commencement came from 13 countries and the commonwealth of Puerto Rico as well as 27 states and the District of Columbia.

The Yukon, about 2,300 miles long, is the largest river in Alaska.

Communist Central Group Affirms Support of Khrushchev

Decree Calls On Farmers To Improve

Leader Says Russia Surpasses U.S. Some Ways, Lags in Others

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Communist party's ruling Central Committee has ended a five-day meeting with solid endorsement of Premier Khrushchev's leadership.

A decree issued by the Committee Friday approved Khrushchev's call for Russian farmers to outproduce America and his blasts at fallen Soviet leaders.

Khrushchev opened the meeting Monday with the claim that Soviet farms already had surpassed the United States in some types of production. But he admitted major shortcomings remained in Russian agriculture.

The decree told collective and state farms to outdo the United States in production of meat, milk and butter. It called for higher incomes for collective farmers and a general expansion of agricultural production.

A radio broadcast of the decree listed the sins of the "antiparty group" of ousted leaders and said they had opposed nearly every aspect of Soviet farm policy.

Members of the group are former premiers V. M. Molotov, Georgi Malenkov and Nikolai Bulganin; ex-foreign minister Dimitri Shepilov, and former economic boss Lazar Kaganovich.

26 Freight Cars Of Food Provided By CROP Giving

A final tabulation of funds collected for this year's CROP drive shows a net total of $1,921 collected, according to the Rev. Sherwood Roach, minister of education of the First Presbyterian Church. The Rev. Mr. Roach and the Rev. Paul Hollenbach, associate pastor of Epworth Methodist Church, were co-chairmen in charge of this year's campaign.

Terming this year's program "a satisfying success," the Rev. Mr. Roach noted that the $1,921 represents a healthy increase over the $573 collected in 1956 and the $1,278 contributed last year.

The $1,921 provided for 576,300 pounds (288 tons or 26 freight cars) of food shipped to hungry peoples overseas.

A total of 27 churches participated in this year's drive and the Rev. Mr. Roach attributed much of the success to the new churches cooperating for the first time this year. These were Temple Israel, St. Mary Catholic Church and Emanuel Lutheran Church.

Traffic Cases

—Juvenile Court—

Charged with defacing his driver's license, John N. Flournoy Jr., 17, of 504 Ballentine Ave. had the license suspended for one year today in Juvenile Court.

Arrested on Warrant

Brooks VanSickle Jr., 32, of 230½ Park Blvd. was arrested by sheriff's deputies Friday night on a Common Pleas Court warrant charging him with contempt of court in a non-support action. A 10 - day jail sentence, suspended earlier, was ordered enforced.

Burma's Yuletide Celebration Explained by Visitor in Galion

GALION — A 22-year-old Burmese college senior at Ohio University explained the celebration of Christmas in her native land when she appeared Friday night at the annual Christmas party at the Crawford County Children's Home.

Appearing in native costume, Miss Khlin Khlin Hla told the 54 youngsters that only one house in every 100 observes Christmas as Americans do.

This, she said, is due to the fact that less than three per cent of Burma's 19½ million population are Christians. The predominant religion is Buddhism.

A Christian of Baptist denomination, she is spending four days at the Children's Home observing the program. The young woman is majoring in social work at the university.

She arrived in Galion Thursday night at the invitation of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin O. Adams, superintendents of the Children's Home. While taking a world tour recently the couple stopped in Rangoon, Burma and met Miss Hla's father, David Kim Hla who directs all YMCA programs in Burma.

He mentioned that his daughter was a student at Ohio University in Athens and the couple made plans to contact her when they returned home. She will return to Athens Sunday.

Among her observations of American campus life is that social gatherings draw both sexes, whereas in Burma young men and women hold parties separately.

Miss Hla was a student at Denison University last year where she was a runner-up for queen of the Junior Prom. Her father is a Denison graduate.

Message

pected to slip back into eyeview from the continental United States until this evening.

Roy Johnson, head of the Pentagon's Advanced Research Projects Agency, figured it would be afternoon by the time Atlas soared within range of four Army tracking stations across the South. These stations have the code equipment to trigger Atlas' tape recorder.

Johnson said it will be decided by then whether to touch off Eisenhower's pre-launching recording a few more times or go to the next step—erase and send up another message for playback.

The plan was to send back the same message for further use until after Christmas. Hagerty said Eisenhower personally wrote it but declined to state whose idea it was to send a presidential statement aloft.

ARPA scientists indicated they wanted more precise information on Atlas' travels before they try a new recording. They hoped for solid 72-hour orbit data sometime today which will allow accurate predictions of the satellite's future path during its estimated 20-day life.

101-Minute Flight

As of latest word the east-bound Atlas was rounding the globe every 101 minutes, 14.4 times a day, at heights from 114 to 928 miles.

One quick effect of Atlas on the international scene was to strengthen the West's hand in the coming showdown with Russia over the future of Berlin.

Top U.S. officials expressed belief that the spectacular show of U.S. power in missiles would well have a sobering effect on Soviet Premier Khrushchev. They looked for a diplomatic, rather than a military, clash over the onetime German capital.

West European scientists saw the launching as a great stride toward man's first voyage into space. Newspapers there said the United States had forged ahead of the Russians. Moscow Radio broadcast the news without comment.

Arrested by Police

Mack McCane, 46, of 489 W. Church St. was arrested Friday night by city police on charges of intoxication and disorderly conduct. He is to appear in Municipal Court Monday.

Yuletide Exhibits Built by Inmates

Decorations both inside and outside the Marion Correctional Institution signal the approach of Christmas Day, Lamoyne Green, superintendent, reported today.

The largest display is a 10 by 14 foot greeting card appearing outside the fence near the main entrance. Made in the shop area by the inmates, it bears the words "Peace on Earth, Good Will To Men."

Another outside exhibit features Santa Claus standing beside his sleigh drawn by eight miniature reindeer.

Inside the main building a large Christmas tree trimmed with Christmas cards as well as ornaments graces the front lobby. An artificial fireplace in the same area has two tall electric candles standing lighted at either side.

Every cell block or dormitory has a decorated tree, as well as the dining room where sketches of a caroling group appear.

The menu for Christmas dinner will be roast turkey, bread dressing, snowflake potatoes, giblet gravy, cranberry sauce, roasting ears of corn, pickles and celery, apple pie, bread, butter and coffee.

As an added bonus, inmates will see several special movies during the holiday period. The Rev. Ralph E. Wiley, Protestant chaplain, will conduct a carol singing fest Tuesday night.

Police Reports

Break-in of her residence and theft of various items of woman's clothing valued at a total of $130 were reported at 6:05 p.m. Friday by Mrs. Robert Littrell of 545 Pearl St.

She told police she had just arrived home, heard a noise and called out her husband's name thinking he was home. She heard a crash and, realizing the person in the house wasn't her husband, ran to a neighbor's house to call police.

Police said entrance was gained through an unlocked bathroom window. They tracked the burglar from the rear of the house across back lots and out into Pearl St. where tracks were lost as they mingled with other footprints.

A pillow case also was reported stolen from the bedroom, apparently to carry the stolen clothing in, police said.

Change

Sanitary Engineer T. A. Klinger has been serving as acting city engineer since John V. Ruth was relieved of his duties by the mayor earlier this year.

Mayor Strong said today that he has not as yet decided whether he will appoint Mr. Klingler as city engineer. He said he has had no recent discussions concerning this possibility with Mr. Klingler.

In addition to the changes in the engineer's department, the ordinance Monday night proposes to eliminate the post of assistant city hall janitor and establish a position of part-time assistant janitor. The mayor said this will amount to an annual savings of $300.

With only one ordinance on the agenda Monday night, council may also discuss a number of other items such as the city building code proposal, the Adams St. trunk sewer proposal, street repair and maintenance and traffic problems, or it may hold only a very short meeting.

In the last six years, since Dec. 22, 1952, city council has never had less than three pieces of legislation to consider. On Oct. 27 it considered three pieces of legislation and on March 24, four pieces of legislation were on the agenda.

who met him as he stepped from an airplane on his return from the Paris NATO conference.

In the case of Italy, he said, he thinks we are "very close to a favorable decision" but that no formal papers have been signed.

To another question, McElroy said he believes the available stockpile of atomic weapons is "adequate overseas."

The defense secretary said Norstad favors placement of several IRBM squadrons in Western Europe. The places where they would be needed is for Norstad to decide, but acceptance by individual NATO countries is up to them.

The defense chief's comments today seemed to brighten the outlook for IRBMs. Earlier this fall McElroy had raised questions about the future of the 1,500-mile range IRBMs.

Santa groaned.

"All they do is snarl at each other," he said. "All their satellites do is beep at each other. Although," Santa went on thoughtfully, "there is that new one, the one that dented the fender of my sled.

Long Feud May End

Settlement of Potomac River Oyster War Near

MT. VERNON, Va. (AP)—The Potomac River oyster wars between Maryland and Virginia fishermen may end today.

They've feuded since colonial days over fishing rights. In recent years a number of their skirmishes have brought gunfire and woundings.

A new agreement will regulate fishing laws in the Potomac, a common boundary of the two states.

Pick Mt. Vernon

Maryland and Virginia negotiators chose Mt. Vernon, home of George Washington, as the site for their settlement because it was here in 1785 that the original compact between the states was formulated.

Full details of the proposed new agreement have not been made known. The negotiators have said, however, they feel that a joint agency of the two states should handle administration of the Potomac's rich fishing resources.

Under the 1785 compact, Virginians were given equal fishing rights in the Potomac River, which Maryland owns to the low-water mark on the Virginia side. Virginians agreed to allow free passage of Maryland ships through the Virginia Capes. Fishing laws were to be enacted by the legislatures of the two states, with concurrence of both necessary for any change.

Closed to Dredging

Troubles arose which led to patrolling of the river by state government boats. In the late 1940s Maryland patrol boats were armed with submachine guns.

Both states voted as a conservation measure to close the river to dredging for oysters. Virginia took this action in 1930 and Maryland in 1931. Virginia again legalized power dredging of oysters three years later but Maryland insisted oysters must be taken with hand tongs. This touched off the oyster wars between fishermen of the two states and conservation officials patrolling the river.

Patrol boats, generally from Maryland, chased the oyster dredgers and frequently got into gunfights. At least one man was killed and an unknown number wounded in the last decade.

On Dec. 8, 1956, a Maryland tidewater fisheries airplane and two patrol boats, aided by a Virginia fisheries boat, pursued a suspected poacher into the Colonial Beach, Va., harbor in a blaze of gunfire. Townspeople, crowding the waterfront, were endangered by the shooting.

Governor Protests

The governor of Virginia protested the "indiscriminate use of firearms" to the Governor of Maryland. The Maryland chief executive complained that Virginia shielded violators of Maryland law.

The Maryland Legislature angrily repealed the 1785 compact. Virginia went to the U.S. Supreme Court. Retired Justice Stanley F. Reed, named special master in the case, proposed an out-of-court agreement and both states selected commissions.

Today the commissions hope to come to final agreement and sign a new compact. If their legislatures and the U.S. Congress approve it, Virginia will drop its Supreme Court suit to void Maryland's abrogation of the 173-year-old original agreement.

then left at the clothing room, unless the donor wishes to deliver it personally to the recipient.

Clearinghouse officials report that Junior Service Guild workers at the welfare clothing center will scratch the cases from the files as gifts arrive so duplication in giving is avoided. No telephone call to the clearinghouse is necessary in these cases.

The Guild - sponsored clearinghouse, with headquarters at the Salvation Army, will close Wednesday noon. This leaves only three days to assist the scores of cases still on file.

Mrs. Howard Williams, clearinghouse chairman, stressed today that even a small gift can go a long way in fulfilling an urgent need and making the holiday a bright one.

Sharing with others less fortunate is particularly important this year with so many breadwinners out of work, Mrs. Williams said. She urged those who have not done so to call the clearinghouse and volunteer to meet the needs of just one case before it is too late.

Parley Slated To Reopen in News Dimout

NEW YORK (AP) — New Yorkers today faced the certainty of the final weekend before Christmas without nine major daily newspapers.

Joint negotiations between the striking Newspaper Mail and Deliverers Union and publishers are not scheduled to resume until Monday. The talks broke off Wednesday.

Federal mediators kept in touch with both sides Friday without making any apparent progress toward an earlier joint meeting.

The deliverers struck Dec. 9 in a contract dispute with the Publishers Assn. of New York City.

The papers stopped publishing two days later. Only about 5,000 employes out of a normal payroll of 20,000 are still at work at the struck papers.

The deadlock in negotiations is knotted around a wage issue. The publishers have offered a $7 wage package spread over two years, plus a reduction in the weight of bundles the deliverers handle.

The union has termed the wage offer acceptable only if the work week is reduced from 40 to at least 37 hours, also spread over two years. It has also asked an extra holiday and replacements for absent drivers.

Nine other newspaper unions, many of whose members have been left idle by the strike, have agreed to a joint conference Monday with the 4,500-member deliverers' union. They did not commit themselves to the deliverers' plea to "join actively in this fight and unite their resources for ultimate victory."

tions resulting from the merger of the former Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co. into General of Ohio," he declared. "The new contract provides a single statewide agreement for all employes. This will establish more stable union-management relations by eliminating these discrepancies," he said.

He said he was confident that union members would ratify the contract. Union locals are scheduled to vote on the contract in meetings next week.

Under terms of the new contract, the top hourly wage for craftsmen will be $2.53 an hour, the top for installer-repairmen, $2.46, and the top for traffic operators, $1.58, he said. The contract also calls for improvements in sick benefits, in evening and night-tour differential, and in other working conditions, he said.

A company spokesman said today that no estimate has been made on the total dollar increase in the pay for the 1,500 employes covered by the contract or of the total amount of added income for the local employes.

Explosion Kills Five, Hurts 13 In Mexico City

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Police investigated today the possibility that a bomb caused an explosion which killed five persons in a crowded restaurant and bar.

The blast critically injured 13 others Friday night in La Ronda, a popular tourist attraction close to the U.S. embassy.

Police Gen. Luis Cueto said three dead men were restaurant employes, two of them musicians. A fourth, identified only by a ring with the initials R.C.D. also was believed to be an employe.

U.S. Consul Charles Gendreau said the fifth person might be an American woman but this was uncertain.

A party of Cubans was among the patrons, leading police to speculate that a bomb might have been intended for them. Supporters of both President Fulgencio Batista of Cuba and his rebel opponent Fidel Castro live in Mexico City.

The explosion was centered in the bar, knocking out the front walls and causing one car parked outside to explode. The dining area was lightly damaged and the kitchen untouched.

Police ruled out a gas line explosion since that would have damaged the kitchen.

Toledoan Is Executed At Ohio's Penitentiary

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A 55-year-old convicted slayer, Bennie Collins of Toledo, has been executed in Ohio Penitentiary's electric chair for shooting another motorist after their cars collided.

Collins went to this death calmly Friday night, the 23rd Psalm and the Lord's Prayer on his lips. He was executed a half-hour earlier than scheduled.

Warden Ralph W. Alvis said the time was advanced to 7:30 p.m. so the execution would not be called to the attention of other prisoners, who are allowed to play radios between 7 and 8 p.m.

Collins was found guilty of first degree murder by a three-judge panel in the shooting of Donald Hattery, 25, of Toledo. The two became involved in an argument after their cars collided at an intersection in Toledo Nov. 14, 1957.

Killed by Train

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Wilda Rhyan, 70, of Columbus, was killed Friday when her car apparently stalled on a railroad crossing here. It was struck by a passenger train.

Harding Whips Findlay 41-35 in Slipshod Contest

25 Turnovers Stall Presidents' Offense

By JOHN SHORT
Marion Star Sports Editor

Harding's Presidents squeezed through to a 41-35 Buckeye Conference cage victory over Findlay here Friday night but Coach Don Knodel, his assistants and most of the Marion fans still are wondering how.

"I have never seen a poorer exhibition of basketball," Knodel said immediately after the final buzzer. He had the statistics to back up his statement.

The Presidents were charged with 25 turnovers and 18 defensive miscues during the comedy of errors. In addition, the Harding cagers hit at a miserable 30 per cent clip from the field, connecting on 17 of 56 shots.

FINDLAY, weakened by disciplinary action taken against three of its starting squad, was in even worse condition. The Trojans collected only seven field goals. They were blanked from the field during third period action and scored only twice in the fourth period. At the foul line, Findlay picked up 21 of 35 attempts while Harding was hitting on seven of 23.

It looked as though the Prexies were out to score a romp in the opening stages of play. Eldon Phillips gave Findlay a 1-0 lead but Stan Larkin, Bob Middleton and Chuck Campbell all connected from the field for a 6-1 Harding lead. That spurt enabled Harding to finish the first quarter with an 8-6 margin.

Bob Sandel batted in a rebound early in the second quarter to knot the count at 8-8 and after Middleton scored on a tipin, Bill Lee dropped in a pair of free throws to tie the score at 10-10. Mike Chamberlain connected on a jump shot from the top of the keyhole to put Harding ahead 12-10 an dthe Prexies held the lead the rest of the way. By the halftime intermission, Harding had increased its margin to 24-17.

CHAMBERLAIN and Kirk added fielders before Phillips added two free throws for Findlay. Nearly half of the third stanza had elapsed before the score. Findlay managed only two more points during the quarter to trail 31-21 at the start of the final frame. Knodel lost the services of Mike Chamberlain in that third period. He fouled out with 1:36 left on the clock.

Findlay lost two of its starters in fourth quarter play with Phillips departing with 6:38 to play and Gerry Susko joining him on the bench with 3:23 remaining. The final minute and a half turned into a foul shooting contest. With Harding leading 40-30, the Prexies committed six fouls during the closing seconds. The Trojans cut their deficit to 40-35 with 20 seconds to go when Sandel dropped in a pair of foul shots but Harding stalled until Dave Haas was fouled with five seconds showing on the clock.

Chamberlain was the top scorer for the Harding squad with 11 markers. Middleton and Larkin each had eight. Bill Lee pumped in 19 points for Coach Bob Werley's Trojans. He collected four of Findlay's seven field goals and connected on 11 of 13 free throws. Phillips and Jim Federici each netted seven.

THE HARDING reserve team recorded a 48-32 victory in the opening game. The Vice Presidents grabbed a 12-9 lead after the first period and were out front 22-18 at the half. They went into the fourth period with a 33-25 bulge.

Dan Wendell topped the scoring for Coach Al Beach's charges with 15 points. Ned Porter netted 14. Overall the Vice Presidents posted a 43 per cent average hitting on 21 of 48 tries. Mike Lanning was tops for the Findlay team with 11.

Next action for the Harding squad will be Tuesday night when it invades Fremont in another conference game. Student tickets for the contest will be on sale at the main office at Harding Monday and Tuesday from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m.

New York's Offense Hit By Injuries

NEW YORK (AP) — For the third and positively last time, the Cleveland Browns and New York Giants meet Sunday for the Eastern Conference title of the National Football League.

Beating Cleveland once a year is more than most clubs can handle. The Giants already have done it twice despite the tremendous power running of Jimmy Brown. Now they must do it a third time — or else.

Yankee Stadium will be bulging with a sellout crowd of 72,000 to watch the league's best defense again collide with Brown, the best ground gainer in league history.

Good Weather Due

Only the weatherman can spoil the party and he promises to be on his good behavior. Good, that is, compared with last Sunday when snow turned the Stadium into a Christmas card setting. They say it will be clear and cold with the highest thermometer reading around 24 degrees. The field is in fairly good shape.

The only tickets left are the 12,000 bleacher seats and 5,000 standing room positions that go on sale Sunday morning at the Stadium.

Television (CBS) will carry the game to all corners of the nation except for a blackout of the New York area. Game time is 2 p.m. (EST).

The winner goes into the rich championship playoff, Dec. 28, against the Baltimore Colts. As that game will be played in a big ball park, either New York or Cleveland, and the players get 70 per cent of the gate, including the $200,000 TV money, a winning share should be over $4,500.

The Giants' sturdy defensive unit is hale and hearty, ready to take another shot at stopping the fabulous Mr. Brown. But the offensive unit is crippled.

Alex Webster Slowed

Alex Webster, the club's leading pass catcher and runner in last Sunday's 13-10 victory, didn't even work out Friday. Both knees are damaged, but he probably will be in there as long as he can hobble. Jack Stroud, a regular tackle, didn't play last week and isn't due to start. Al Barry, a regular guard, has an infected toe, but probably will play. Buzz Guy, a handyman guard or tackle, is out with a chipped bone in his ankle. To cap it all Pat Summerall, whose 49-yard field goal beat the Browns last Sunday, has been bothered all week by a leg injury.

Chuck Conerly's passing beat the Browns in Cleveland Nov. 2 when he threw for three touchdowns in a 21-17 game. It probably will be Conerly chucking again as the main threat of the Giants' offense.

Cleveland's bread and butter game all season has been Brown's strong running and the field goals of Lou Groza. Milt Plum passes only enough to take the pressure off Brown, although he has a talented receiver in Ray Renfro. Coach Paul Brown has indicated he may do more throwing this week.

If the score is tied after regulation time, they will keep going to a sudden death ending. The first team to score a point will win. Because of this factor, the books are quoting no points this week. In man-to-man betting the Giants are 11-10 favorites.

READY FOR BROWNS. That's the opinion of these New York Giant gridders, who clash with the Cleveland Browns Sunday for the Eastern Division title and the chance to meet the Baltimore Colts Dec. 28 for the NFL championship. Charley Conerly lobs a pass downfield as Frank Gifford acts as a blocking back. On the line are three good reasons for the strong Giant attack. Shown (left to right) are Frank Wetecha, Jack Stroud and Roosevelt Grier. Although the Giants have edged the Browns twice this season, the game is rated a toss-up. (UPI Telephoto)

Chatfield Falls To Mount Zion In 74-47 Game

MOUNT ZION — Mount Zion played host to Chatfield Friday night and walloped the visitors 74-47.

Taking its fourth win in five Crawford County League outings and its eighth in nine games overall, Zion got off to a 15-8 quarter lead, was in the van 34-18 at halftime, and held a 54-23 advantage as the finale rolled around.

Chatfield, now 2-5 in league play and 3-6 for the season to date, was never in the game.

Vern Noggle paced the Zion attack with 27 points. Doug Hoover posted 20 and Tom Stetzer rolled in 17. Bernie Wurm and Bob Schiefer both contributed 15 digits to the final Chatfield tally.

Mount Zion also captured reserve game laurels by taking a 31-23 victory over the Chatfield frosh.

Swaps earned $409,400 as a 4-year-old.

Three Teams Tied For 3rd in County

Prospect and Pleasant remained deadlocked for the Marion County League lead after recording third straight decisions in play Friday night.

Prospect's Bulldogs rolled over LaRue 74-44 and the Pleasant Pandas belted Martel in a 91-54 romp. In other games Friday night, Ridgedale clipped Caledonia 72-45, Green Camp squeezed past Claridon 50-47 and New Bloomington crushed Waldo 69-35.

As a result of their wins, Ridgedale, Green Camp and New Bloomington are tied for third place with 2-1 records while Caledonia, Claridon and Martel are tied for sixth with 1-2 marks while Waldo and LaRue are in the cellar with no wins against three losses.

Pleasant Scores Rout

Martel, held scoreless in the first quarter, was clobbered by the Pleasant Pandas on the Pandas floor 91-54 Friday night.

Pleasant racked up 30 points and held the Martel quintet scoreless for the first quarter. Martel began to show life in the second quarter but trailed 48-22 at the half and a 65-28 third quarter deficit offered little hope for a victorious recovery.

Jeff Peacock wound up high man on the Pandas' outfit with 26 points to his credit. Larry Mahaffey had 16 and Dennis Rice came through for 13 points. Martel's Paul Thacker turned in a fine performance and 27 points for the top position. Ray Barr netted 10 points for the losers.

Pleasant is undefeated thus far in county league action with a 3-0 record and holds an overall 7-0 record.

The Panda reserves dropped their visitors 63-29. The winners were led by Jerry Newell with 18, Eddie Mack with 11 and Harold Biggerstaff with 15.

Prospect's undefeated Bulldogs racked up their fifth straight victory in as many starts by turning back LaRue 74-44 Friday night on the Bulldogs' floor.

Tom Rodgers took high point honors for Prospect with 19 while Jack Fetter had 13 and Howard Moser and Dave Lauer had 10 points apiece. Jeff Greenwood and Paul Gantt were top sharpshooters for the Indians with 12 points apiece. Prospect hit on 42 per cent of its attempted field shots.

Good Market In Real Estate Seen for 1959

Stable Prices, Rising Volume of Transfers Forecast by NAREB

Americans are stepping up their drive for better quality housing with the result that the real estate market in the first half of 1959 generally will be characterized by stable home prices and a rising volume of transfers of good quality existing residences.

This forecast, was made in the semi-annual market study for the fall of 1958, just released by the National Association of Real Estate Boards on the basis of reports from real estate boards and Realtors in 372 communities.

"The continuing process of upgrading, the sustained rate of mobility, and higher personal income provide the substance of an active real estate market," the survey report said. "In most areas an increased demand compared to 1958 is anticipated, but improvement in the supply of offerings, as upgrading is resumed, will hold back price advances."

Sales Volume High

Approximately 25 per cent of the standing stock of housing in standard metropolitan areas is made up of homes built in 1950 or later, the survey notes. Most Realtors reported the volume of sales of this type of housing is high at prices the same or above those of a year ago — particularly in the $12,000 - $20,000 category. For homes of this age in the $20,000 and over group, 42 per cent said that prices were the same as a year ago; 23 per cent listed them as lower.

For homes in the $12,000-$20,000 range, 45 per cent described them as higher, and 39 per cent said they were unchanged. With respect to the under $12,000 group, 44 per cent of the respondents said prices were higher, 40 per cent reported them unchanged and 16 per cent found them lower.

The volume of sales for homes of this age in the $12,000-$20,000 range was greater than a year ago in 47 per cent of the market areas, about the same in 28 per cent and lower in 25 per cent. For homes priced under $12,000, sales similar to last year were quoted for 36 per cent of the communities, and a higher level for 27 per cent. Sales of homes of $20,000 or more were higher in 31 per cent of the nation, unchanged 31 per cent and lower in 38 per cent.

The report notes that the upward trend of both prices and sales for these relatively new existing homes was most pronounced in satellite cities within major metropolitan areas and in counties adjoining standard metropolitan areas.

Values Unchanged

For homes constructed during the 1940s and priced under $12,000, 36 per cent of the reports indicated unchanged values and 35 per cent said they had declined. In the $12,000-$20,000 group, 39 per cent were unchanged, while 32 per cent were reported lower. For residences of $20,000 or more, stable values were said to prevail in 38 per cent of the survey. Higher values were reported in 24 per cent.

Sales of homes of this age priced below $12,000 are equal to those of a year ago in 36 per cent of the areas, lower in 31 per cent and higher in 33 per cent. Transactions involving homes in the $12,000-$20,000 range were said to be the same in 41 per cent of the survey areas, higher in 28 per cent, and lower in 31 per cent. For the $20,000 and over group, transfers were reported at a rate similar to a year ago in 36 per cent of the places, and higher in 18 per cent.

The survey found that homes built during the 1930s are selling at prices prevalent a year ago in more than 50 per cent of the South and Middle West. For 34 per cent of the cities in the Mid-West, and for 40 per cent of the South, sales prices were quoted as the same. Thirty-one per cent of the Western communities reported prices above those of a year ago.

The national averages for homes in this age group indicate higher prices in 16 per cent of the country, unchanged prices in 38 per cent, and lower prices in 46 per cent.

Transfers Hold Steady

The volume of transfers of properties built during the 1930s continued at a level similar to that of a year ago in 40 per cent of the survey, advanced in 21 per cent and declined in 39 per cent. The volume of sales in Western market areas was higher than in the rest of the nation.

The survey report says prices and transfer levels of homes built before 1930 in areas of cities where residential repair and renovation are customary have held firm, while values have declined in neglected neighborhoods.

Prices of homes in this age group in well-maintained neighborhoods are higher than a year ago in 25 per cent of the areas, the same in 41 per cent and lower in 34 per cent. In neglected neighborhoods, prices are the same in 21 per cent of the country and lower in 73 per cent.

Transfers of homes built prior to 1930 and located in well-maintained neighborhoods are at a higher rate than a year ago in 29 per cent of the areas, the same in 44 per cent, and lower in 27 per cent. For similar homes in neglected neighborhoods, the current rate of sales is the same in 23 per cent of the nation, and lower in 70 per cent.

THIS SEVEN-ROOM HOME located at 207 Bain Ave has been purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth L. Morton from Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Stuebner. It has three bedrooms and bath up and living room, dining room, sun room and kitchen down. Cover Rinehart of 965 Woodrow Ave. represented both parties in the transaction.

Here's How

Unusual Effect Possible With Yuletide Lighting

By VIVIAN BROWN
Associated Press Staff Writer

One of the joys of Christmas is the lovely lighting — in church, outdoors, in the home. Through the years the possibilities for unusual lighting arrangements has grown with outdoor lights with weatherproof plug-in outlets and safety lights indoors.

Lights are employed to achieve enchanting effects at doors and windows. Even on the table new ideas for centerpieces are suggested by lighting experts.

Some of these arrangements are made in combination with styrofoam and inexpensive props from variety stores. One captivating unit for small fry may be assembled to show Santa's helpers at he North Pole. Mountains and base are made of styrofoam and happy elves and wheelbarrow are placed around the "snow." Behind one mountain and hidden is a string of small red lights.

ANOTHER EFFECT may be achieved by creating a manger scene with inexpensive figures, concealing a couple of small white Christmas lamps in the roof of the manger. A couple of Christmas trees fastened to the styrofoam base adds to the effect of the design, along with small stars fastened to the backdrop.

The styrofoam is handy too in creating wall plaques. One such unit was a jolly snow man with a red hat, nose, eyebrows, mouth, tie and button, using materials that are at hand and mounting D-25 and D-26 lamps in the rear of the snow man.

You can have a real whirl at the door, sending your imagination into orbit to achieve spectacular Yuletide effects. A pair of angels may have their wings brightened with lamps in the D-14 size. On either side of the door aluminum foil can be crushed and worked into a border into which can be buried star reflectors and lamps. These same star reflectors can be used across the roof to carry out the heavenly idea.

ONE CHIC and unusual door decoration can be made merely by criss-crossing pieces of soft pine until you have a tree shape. Start with a three-inch strip and work up to a 24-inch cross bar, all of ¾-inch pine. Nail the strips three inches apart on a strip of wood about 48 inches long. It'll take about 12 strips. Lights should be on either end of the cross bars and spaced evenly apart.

String sets can be stapled or "add-on" type sockets can be wire-taped to the undersides of each "branch." It's a good idea to paint the wood before you start the wiring.

If you plan to outline a tree with lights, use at least one light per square foot. Multipy the height of the tree by its width (at the bottom of the tree) by 1½. For example: A six by four-foot tree needs 36 lights to outline it properly. If you'd achieve solid mass lighting, double that number, but don't exceed it. Too many lights may be an eyesore.

City's Service Director At Kent, Wife Killed

RAVENNA, Ohio (AP) — Louis Hansen, 51, Kent's service director, and his wife Virginia, 48, were killed Friday night in the collision of their automobile and a tractor trailer on Ohio 14 southeast of here.

They were on their way to East Palestine where their son Louis was to have been married today to Miss Jane Widmer of East Palestine.

Portage County sheriff's deputies said Hansen's car apparently went out of control on icy pavement.

Plans New Plant

LORAIN, Ohio (AP)—American Gypsum Co. will begin construction of a multi-million dollar plant on a 53-acre site here next spring, Melvin H. Baker, chairman of the board, has announced. The plant will employ about 500 men, Baker said, and will make wallboard, plaster and other products.

Rafters Used in Decor

While roof rafters always have been an important part of the house, they were traditionally consigned to the obscurity of the attic. But today, a new trend is in evidence to expose the rafters as the chief decoration of the rooms. This practice, gives a symmetrical ceiling pattern ideal for enclosed patios. Any number of striking finishes can be applied to the exposed lumber.

Poinsettia Ideal Plant For Christmas Present

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
Associated Press Staff Writer

CHAPPAQUA — This is the season for giving—and receiving—flowers. Custom and perhaps their colors have made a few potted plants the choice of most givers at the holiday season.

And most of the plants, unfortunately, shrivel and die after they have passed their hot-house bloom. We save the pot and throw away the plant.

This is just about the only recourse most of us have, for few of us can simulate in our warm, dry houses the environment in which most of these plants flourish.

THE POINSETTIA, of course, is the ideal Christmas gift plant, combining as it does the brilliant red and bright green colors. I know of only two households, both presided over by a possessor of a very green thumb, who has been able to persuade a poinsettia to live over to bloom again another year. The problem — as it usually is with houseplants — is providing the plant with a humid environment.

To keep a poinsettia blooming for several weeks, set it in a southern window for plenty of sunlight, place the pot on a water-filled tray — with the pot kept out of water by a layer of pebbles, water when the potting soil feels dry to the touch and keep it out of drafts.

If you want to try for a bloom next year, after the blossoms have withered, set it in a cool, dark spot, like the cellar, and gradually reduce its water rations During this necessary period of dormacy, water it so that it is slightly less than bone dry. In the early spring cut the plant back to about one half size, return it to light and resume watering.

SINK THE POT to its rim in a sunny, protected spot for a summer of growth. Then just keep your fingers crossed; maybe it will bloom, maybe it won't.

The popular azalea is another problem plant. As house plants they like cool temperatures — around 60 degrees — moist air and lots of sunshine. If you are buying a gift plant for a homeowner, make certain it is a variety which is winter-hardy in the area in which you live. If so, it is possible to set the plant out in a lightly-shaded spot with acid soil next spring to give it a permanent place in the garden.

Jerusalem cherries, with their bright red fruits, are another product of the hot-house, and the trick is to try to duplicate this moist, warm and benign situation. And it is indeed a trick.

AMONG OTHERS are cyclamen, Christmas cactus and Christmas begonia My own experience with cyclamen leads me to advise one to enjoy the plant while it is blooming, and then be content merely to salvage the pot. Christmas cactus, however, will grow well in a sunny spot, in medium-rich potting soil and with more water than is necessary for the average member of the cactus family.

And the Christmas begonia is one of my favorite house plants. It blooms all winter long in a sunny spot, demands little besides adequate water, close potting (it likes crowded roots) and temperatures which aren't too high.

Telephone Call to Santa Foiled by Technicality

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Hey, Virginia, is there a Santa Claus?

Reporter Lee Diamond of the Zanesville Times Recorder tried to find out Friday night.

With the cooperation of the telephone company, he placed a call to Santa Claus at the North Pole.

The call got as far north as Pt. Barrow, Alaska. But they told Diamond that Santa Claus wasn't there.

Must be Santa hasn't had a phone installed yet.

Heating Idea Tested

Scientists at the University of Arizona are testing a new concept in residential heating and cooling. They use a copper roof to collect heat from the sun to warm the house in the winter and utilize the same roof to reject heat from the interior of the house for summer cooling.

Cut Building Costs

In the constant struggle of home builders to keep down construction costs, much attention now is being focused on results of field surveys showing considerable savings in prefabricated plumbing assemblies. Such assemblies hold on-the-job labor to a minimum.

Aid for the Ailing House

By ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: I boiled potatoes in one aluminum kettle and corn on the cob in another one; both kettles turned very dark. Is there any way to remove this dark stain?

A: Fill the kettles to the depth of discolored aluminum with water containing a little vinegar or cream of tartar; boil water in them until the discoloration disappears. Use about two teaspoons to the quart of water. Cooking acid foods, such as tomatoes or apples, also will remove discoloration without harming the food.

Q: We have a built-in corner cupboard in the kitchen painted with enamel. When we tried to remove the dishes we found they were stuck to the shelves, although the paint seems dry. Is there any way we can loosen the dishes so as to remove them without breakage? The dishes are more valuable than the cupboard; we would not object to ruining the finish on the shelves if necessary.

A: The safest method would be to use prepared paint remover around where the dishes are stuck to soften the enamel so that the chinaware can be removed.

Q: We have well water. A few moments after turning on the hot water faucet the pressure seems to be gone. What causes this?

A: It may well be that the piping supplying the hot water tank has become corroded from hard water so that the supply cannot keep up with the demand. I recommend having a competent plumber inspect this piping and the tank itself I also recommend serious consideration of installation of a water-softening unit which will eliminate many problems caused by hard water.

Q: We are considering buying a log cabin for summers. It appears well kept, but we are told log cabins draw termites. Is this necessarily so? Could we tell by inspecting this cabin if it harbors termites, and is there any way to prevent termite infestation?

A: There is danger of any untreated wood drawing termites if the wood is accessible. I recommend your sending 15 cents (no stamps) to the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D.C., for a copy of Farmers' Bulletin No. 1993, "Decay and Termite Damage in Houses." This gives sound information on identifying termites and preventive treatment.

Q: Our bedroom walls have become soiled-looking. They are painted plaster and we don't want to repaint now. How can I go about washing them?

A: The walls can be washed with warm water and mild suds. Change the wash water frequently and be sure the rinse water is clean. Work on a small section at a time, washing and rinsing it. Start at the bottom of the wall and work up; in this way soiled water will dribble down over an area that's clean and wet; if the water ran down over a dry, unwashed area, it would leave streaks that would be almost impossible to remove.

Man in Wisconsin Makes Split-Level Home Out of Barn

If someone made the unlikely statement that Clayton Jordan, his wife and three daughters lived in a building that had been used previously as a barn and then as a dog kennel, but was now a three-bedroom home, he would be right on all three points.

Jordan's accomplishments offer a challenge to do-it-yourself carpenters the country over. He bought a building near Waterford, Wis., that had been a dairy barn, later a dog kennel and then abandoned. In two years, he had converted it into a modern three-bedroom home, and at last report was planning to finish an expansion attic.

Jordan is a salesman who spends many of his evenings away from home. However, he was successful in recruiting his wife and three daughters for his home labor force. They've helped out with sanding, painting and other interior decorating, and when the occasion has called for it, they've even sawed a board or two and hammered some nails.

To the discerning eye, the shape of the original barn is still unmistakably present, but Jordan has capitalized on this fact and has made no attempt to remove the lightning rods and similar barn-like accoutrements.

The barn — that is, home — is located on a sloping five-acre plot, giving Jordan an opprtanity to use the stable area — now the basement — for garage with the kitchen close by.

Elected to the board of control were Leroy Retterer, Robert Branson and Lloyd Madison. Holdover board members are Alonzo Granger, James Painter and Harley Walker.

Woman Awarded $15,000 in Damage Action Heard Here

A verdict for $15,000 was returned by a Common Pleas jury Friday afternoon for Mrs. Mabel Hoover of near Harpster in a damage suit she brought against Paul Force of near Edison.

The jury of seven men and five women returned the verdict at 3:40 p.m., after more than 3½ hours of deliberation. Eleven jurors concurred in the verdict.

Mrs. Hoover sought $50,000 as compensation for injuries she received in a traffic accident six miles north of Waldo on Oct. 23, 1955. She alleged she was thrown from a northbound car driven by her husband as it struck the rear of a combine operated by Mr. Force on State Rt. 98.

The plaintiff charged that the defendant failed to display warning lights on the rear of his combine. Mrs. Hoover suffered a fractured skull and other injuries in the accident.

A decision in the case rested on this question: was it too dark at the time of the accident to see clearly for 500 yards.

Attorneys for both sides agreed that the accident occurred within an hour after sunset but were at odds over visibility at the time. State law requires warning lights an hour after sunset or at any time visibility is less than 500 yards.

Mrs. Hoover was represented by Paul D. Michel of the Donithen, Michel and Davis law firm and Clarence Purdy of the Bucyrus law firm of Kennedy, Kennedy and Purdy. Representing Mr. Force wer Russell Wilhelm of the Wilhelm and Robinson law firm and Delaware attorney Fred Wickham.

Man's Body Found

STEUBENVILLE, Ohio (AP)—The bruised and frozen body of a one-legged polio victim was found Thursday on the back porch of his isolated home near Bergholz. Jefferson County authorities said that George E. Smyth, 58, had been shot to death after he was brutally beaten and robbed.

Crawford Jurors To Hear 13 Cases In January Term

BUCYRUS — Assignment of 22 cases, including 13 for jury trial and nine for hearing before Crawford County Common Pleas Judge John C. Carroll, was announced today by Judge Carroll.

The cases will be heard during the January term of court, ending April 30.

The grand jury will meet March 16-19. Criminal cases arising from indictments returned by the jury will be heard April 21-24.

The case of the state vs. Mrs. Bonnie Lynn Gilmore, 25, of Galion, who was indicted by the grand jury on charges of neglect and ill treatment of her infant child, will be heard by a jury Jan. 13-15.

A jury also will hear the criminal case of William R. Allen, 44, of Mansfield, indicted on seven counts of larceny by trick in connection with an alleged auto title fraud operation. The action will be heard Jan. 27-29.

The $200,000 suit of Chester Earl Hupp of Perrysville against Weithman Bros., Inc. of Galion and Jerome Phillips of New Washington is scheduled to be heard by a jury March 31 and April 1-2. Mr. Hupp claims he was injured permanently in November, 1954, while repairing the New Washington Catholic Church.

Sulphur Takes 61-59 Victory From Liberty

BUCYRUS — Sulphur Springs journeyed to the Holmes — Liberty hardcourt Friday night and took a 61-59 decision from its hosts.

The Crawford County League fracas, the outcome of which gives both quintets a third-place tie with 5-2 marks, was tied 12-12 at the quarter, with Holmes-Liberty in the van 31-28 at the half and 47-41 after three quarters of action. Sulphur rallied in the final session to eke out the victory.

Wilbur Miller and Glen Hoffsis paced the Sulphur attack with point totals of 16 and 15 respectively. Larry Young was the top scorer for Holmes-Liberty and the game, however, rolling in 33 points, Jerry Schiefer posted eight, eight.

Sulphur is now 5-3 for the season, with Holmes-Liberty boasting a 7-2 record.

It was a good night for Springs fans, as the Sulphur frosh downed their Holmes-Liberty counterparts, 54-33.

Whetstone Is Annihilated by Lykens 106-74

WHETSTONE—Lykens enhanced its top position in the Crawford County League Friday night by rolling over hosting Whetstone 106-54.

Using its reservists in the entire second half, Lykens, now 8-1 overall and 7-0 in the league, blazed away to a 25-8 first quarter lead, held a 68-23 edge at the half and had tallied 84 points, compared to 47 for Whetstone, at the three-quarter mark.

The loss was the ninth of the current campaign for Whetstone.

Jim Knodell paced his Lykens mates by rimming Whetstone buckets for 34 points. Al Stuckey contributed 19 for good measure.

The victory crown also was carried off by the Lykens reserves,

Marion Swim Relays Slated Monday at 'Y'

Approximately 300 swimmers from eight Ohio YMCA's will be participating in the second annual Marion Swim Relays Monday with the local tankers seeking their second leg on the rotating championship trophy.

Action in the meet will get under way at 1:30 p.m. in the first of more than 40 preliminary elimination heats. Survivors from the afternoon session will return in the finals at 7 p.m. to vie for 87 trophies.

The entries from Lima, Springfield, Columbus, Mansfield, Piqua, Findlay, Toledo and Marion will total over 140 relay quartets in the 20 swimming events to make the scheduling of 40 heats. Marion swimmers will be the defending champions in eight of the events and three age groups. Chief danger to the Marion team's chance of repeating as champs will be the strong Lima and Toledo entries in all age groups.

Lima won the Ohio - West Virginia "Y" junior swim crown last year and has an improved group of high school swimmers. Toledo had a very strong prep team last year and with Chet Jastremski, All - American high school star, could be a threat in the intermediate age group. Findlay and Columbus, league champions in the prep and junior divisions, will rate as strong contenders in the age group standings.

This will be a fine opportunity for the people of Marion to support the only varsity sport team to represent the city in interstate competition the last five years. The efforts of the local squad under the direction of Coach Warren Foster has given Marion a reputation as a leading Midwest swimming center.

Then the senior class gave up a party with the request that the money which would have been spent for the event be contributed to the clinic for its Christmas work.
